New York's 97.3 Heat Broken by Rainstorms

NEW YORK, June 24—(AP)—Sudden thunderstorms lashed the Middle Eastern seaboard tonight, causing property damage and accidents and breaking heat waves in the Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York City areas.

Power lines fell and trees were uprooted in Baltimore as rain-fall was accompanied by winds up to 75 miles per hour. Earlier, the city had baked in its hottest June 24 since 1894 as the mercury hit an official high of 97.3 at 2:30 p. m.

Train-Truck Crash Hurts 3, Releases Bear

WARSAW, Ind., June 24—(UP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad train, the Redbird, en route from Detroit to Chicago, collided with a truck tonight at a grade crossing. Two crewmen and the truck driver were hurt, but the 88 passengers on the train escaped injury. The engine overturned and three following cars were derailed, including one coach, but they remained upright.

The truck reportedly was carrying live bears for the Daily Brothers Circus. One animal was reported killed and another was believed to have been set free by the crash.

Red Bloc Calls for All-German Government

WARSAW, Poland, Friday, June 25—(R)—Eight European nations under the leadership of Russia called early today for the formation of a "provisional, democratic, peace-loving, all-German Government."

A communique issued at the eight-nation conference, broadcast by the Moscow Radio and heard in London, said the Eastern bloc asked for a four-power agreement on such a German Government.

The conference, which ended at midnight, said the proposed German Government should consist of representatives of the democratic parties and organizations in Germany. Such a Government, it added, should create a guarantee against a repetition of German aggression.

Civil Service Raise Effective July 1

WASHINGTON, June 24—(R)—All classified Civil Service workers will get raises next month under the general wage increase bill passed by Congress.

Those paid on an annual basis will be increased $330 a year. Hourly, part-time, and workers paid by the day will get an additional 20 cents an hour.

The bill does not benefit employees who do not hold Federal Civil Service ratings. Wages of these temporary and special employees are governed outside the Civil Service law and in some cases they are under the jurisdiction of local Wage Boards. Also, it does not benefit Cabinet officers, Undersecretaries or other similar "upper-bracket" officials.

The bill breaks the $10,000 Civil Service ceiling. Heretofore, officials getting that wage have not received general increases voted for others in the Civil Service.

The bill goes into effect in the first pay period after July 1. Federal pay periods begin between the first and tenth of each month.

AN EDITORIAL

Dewey, Georgia and the South

Thomas E. Dewey, efficient Governor of New York State, is the Republican nominee, unanimously chosen last night when his opponents, recognizing they had been outmaneuvered and tactically defeated, released their delegates and urged an end to all opposition, in an unexpected display of, and bid for, Party unity.

Georgia probably would have preferred to see Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, or Gov. Earl Warren, of California, receive the nomination.

But in so far as Georgia and the South are concerned in their desire to see created a second party in the Southern States, the nomination of Gov. Dewey is the one most likely to be productive of the end desired . . . if he wins in November.

It is in Georgia, where a Dewey delegation headed by men of substance and patriotic determination to create a real Republican Party for the South is in power, that this first genuine effort to build a party will have its core, should Gov. Dewey win the election.

Gov. Dewey was kept in front in the first two ballots by the aid of some of the Southern delegations which broke away from the hold long held by the historic Old Guard of the GOP. He is known to be pledged, as is Speaker of the House Joe Martin, to reform of the Southern party. This reform will be led by Georgians.

So, from the Southern viewpoint which long has urged a second party, the Dewey nomination was almost a necessity. He long ago saw that an efficient man could build up great strength by winning the Southern bloc.

Atlanta already has the State National Committeeman, Harry Sommers, and the National Committeewoman, Mrs. Robert R. Snodgrass.

So much for the regional meaning.

Gov. Dewey won the nomination because he was clever enough to have held back certain delegations until the day before, and the morning of, the voting. These delegations, announced one after another, created what came to be called "The Dewey Blitz." It created an immediate bandwagon psychology.

The nominee has his critics. But none has ever denied that he was a good administrator with a faculty for finding good men to do important administrative jobs.

It was this record as an administrator which proved to be his greatest asset. The fact that he is not an isolationist and has endorsed all the New Deal legislation of a social nature, also will be of assistance in his campaign.

A united Democratic Party, with a forceful nominee who could bring all the State organizations with him in enthusiastic, united effort, could defeat Gov. Dewey. But the Democratic Party is not united. President Truman is more sinned against than sinning, but he has not yet been able to rally the Party about him.

Gov. Dewey, unless the West withdraws from him, as is unlikely following Gov. Warren's stand, will be the favorite in November.—R. M.

3d Ballot Harmony Fest Wins

By JACK TARVER

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 24—The bitterest Republican Convention in years reached a climax in a love fest and the nomination of Tom Dewey here tonight.

The surprise peak to a hectic four days of infighting came at the opening of the evening session after a two-hour recess which followed the second ballot.

Gov. Dewey accepted the nomination with a pledge to work for "freedom of men" everywhere in these times of "grave challenge."

The New York Governor walked away with his personal victory on the third ballot of the twenty-fourth GOP convention—1,094 to 0.

"Hallelujah," cried Mrs. Dudley Hay, Convention Secretary, as she finished the roll call.

The Party had decided to try to make a winner in 1948 of its 1944 loser. Exactly four years ago, lacking a day, the GOP gave Dewey his first fling at the White House. He lost to the old master, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Convention quit until tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. (EST), when it picks the man for second spot on the ticket. Dewey lieutenants said the Governor had nobody specifically in mind, at that point. The Convention landside for the New York Governor got under

Georgia Legion Greet National Chief Today

By ALBERT RILEY

American Legionnaires from throughout Georgia were ready to welcome National Commander James F. O'Neill here today and get down to business in their thirtieth annual State Convention, after paying tribute last night to their fallen comrades of two World Wars.

Undaunted by the heat wave, thousands of delegates descended on Atlanta yesterday to hold preliminary caucuses and begin four days of high jinks, politics and business.

Last night at the Municipal Auditorium they listened once again to "The Paper Army" and "Over There," the son of '17 and '18, and to the marching tunes of World War II. They saw a series of tableaux, including Marines reproducing the flag-raising at Iwo Jima.

They lighted candles on floral wreaths in honor of their departed buddies, and they heard Brig. Gen. William E. Brougher urge them to always rise up to defend liberty against any danger, "because, when you lose freedom, my friends, you lose everything."

Big Gen. Brougher told of his three and a half years as a Japanese prisoner of war, and urged constant preparedness and vigilance, because "weakness cannot negotiate; weakness can only beg."

In the opening day's sessions, the guys in the blue-gray smocks and peaked caps took charge of the convention as the Grand Voiture of Georgia initiated 50 new members and elected Dr. W. A. Davis, of Warrenton, as Grand Chief de Gare, succeeding C. Herbert Schobe, of Savannah.

Meanwhile, political maneuvering in the three-way race for Georgia Department Commander of the Legion held chief interest in the bunting decked downtown hotel lobbies as delegates registered and candidates and their supporters sought votes for Sunday's election. The convention will be officially called to order at the Auditorium at 1:30 p. m. today by Department Commander W. E. Burdine, of Blue Ridge. Speakers will include Mayor Hartsfield, Sen. Richard B. Russell, and National Commander O'Neill.

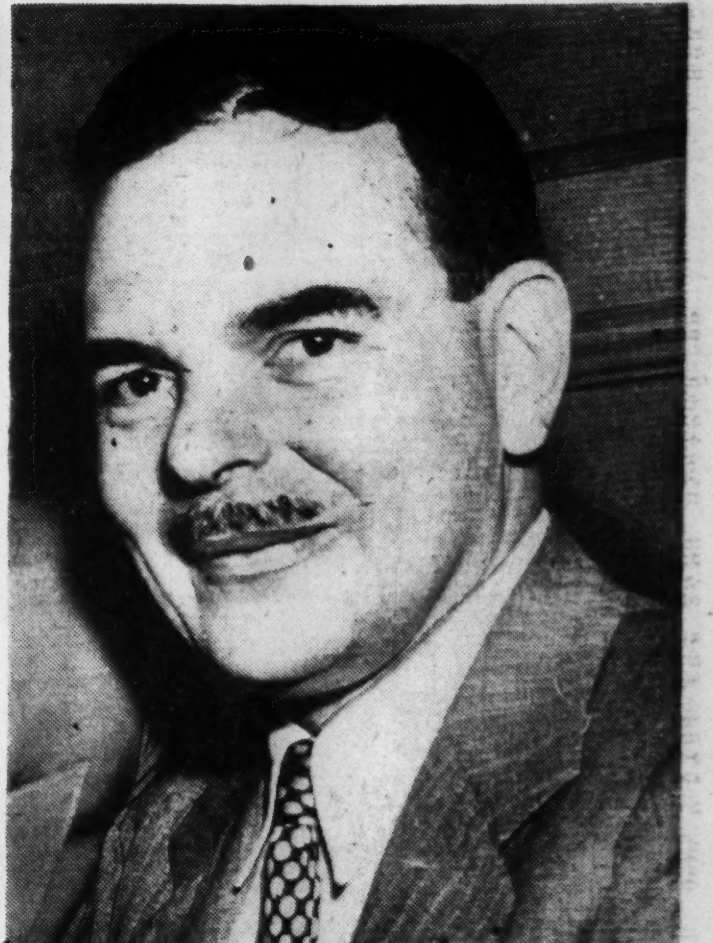

As the Legionnaires moved into town their ranks included many younger members, obviously yet-

Georgian Defies Reds To Remove U. S. Flag

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

Georgia's Gen. Clay has planted the American flag firmly in the soil of Berlin and defied the Russians to remove it.

Steel helmeted U. S. soldiers in armored cars with mounted machineguns and rifle-carrying Military Police patrolled the American sector and gave the city its most war-like atmosphere since 1945.

Clay's statement that the Russians "cannot drive us out of Berlin by any action short of war" comes as observers watch tensely to see whether Joe Stalin will make the sort of move which many have expected would come during the height of the U. S. election campaign.

Clay's defiance came as the Russians snarled off electricity, milk and food for Western Berlin in a new move for control of the city.

British soldiers were dispatched to protect scrap metal stocks they said the Russians were trying to haul from the British sector. It was announced tonight. The British said they rejected a Russian demand to withdraw the soldiers.

The British countered the Soviet blockade of Western Berlin

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 24—(UP)—Thomas E. Dewey tonight accepted the Republican nomination for President with a promise to "unite our party and our country in meeting the grave challenge of our time."

Majority Fulton Voters Residents of Atlanta

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Mayor Hartsfield today is greeting registration figures showing a preponderance of voters in Fulton County reside in Atlanta with the statement: "It should serve as a warning to the professional city-haters."

Figures released by T. Earl Suttles, Fulton County Tax Collector and Registrar, showed corporate Atlanta has 82,010 eligible to vote in the September primaries compared to 46,815 registered from the remainder of Fulton County.

"These figures indicate an awakened interest on the part of voters living inside Atlanta," Hartsfield said. "It should serve as a warning to professional city-haters. This large registration means that the people as a whole can decide the elections and that little pressure groups will have little influence."

Hartsfield sidestepped any direct reference to the impending races for the Legislature in which extension of the Atlanta City limits is expected to play a major role. But his statement indicated he regards the imposing array of Atlanta voters with a great degree of confidence. He has fought consistently for annexation, but thus far has been balked.

A breakdown of the registration totals shows Atlanta has 60,504 white registrants and 21,506 Negroes, while Fulton outside Atlanta has 44,246 white and 2,569 Negroes on its voting list. A military box pushes the Fulton registration including Atlanta and areas outside to a grand total of 130,588.

Negro registrations are heaviest in Atlanta's Third Ward where 15,611 Negroes are registered as against 10,782 white persons. In Precinct 3-B of the Third Ward, 6,564 Negroes are registered to 10 whites.

Atlanta's Fifth Ward has 19,032 voters; the Fourth, 17,325; the First, 14,353; the Sixth, 13,001; and the Second, which lies only partially in Fulton County, 2,708.

Heavy County registration is in Buckhead "A" and "B" where registrations are 7,423 and 3,463 respectively; East Point with 6,035; and Hapeville with 3,353.

Dewey evoked round after round of applause. He particularly pleased the delegates with a tribute to the candidates whom he had beaten for the nomination. He named them all and added:

"It has been a difficult choice in an honorable contest. It has been a stirring demonstration of the life and vitality and ideals of our Republican party."

He said it had been a hard fight filled with "spirited disagreement, hot argument."

"But let no one be misled," he said. "You have given moving and dramatic proof of how Americans, who honestly differ, close ranks and move forward, for the nation's well-being, shoulder to shoulder."

Dewey said the Republican party's responsibility and opportunity never were greater.

"For tonight," he said, "our future—our peace, our prosperity, the very fate of freedom—hangs in a precarious balance."

He stressed this country's role in the preservation of peace. He said the Convention had adopted

Truman Signs New Draft Bill, Provides Funds for U. S. Defense

WASHINGTON, June 24—(AP)—President Truman today signed the peacetime draft bill and two appropriation measures that give over $10,000,000,000 to the Army, Navy and Air Force.

His action on the conscription measure makes it law and stops the flood of enlistments in the National Guard and reserves by men 19 through 25 seeking to sidestep induction into the regular services.

Between 200,000 and 250,000 men are expected to be drafted the first year.

The first defense measure signed today was the Navy money bill totaling $3,749,059,250 for the fiscal year beginning July 1. It includes funds to start the world's largest ship, a 65,000-ton aircraft carrier to cost about $127,000,000. By using wartime reserves and previous appropriations, the Navy has more than $5,000,000,000 to spend this year.

The Army and Air Force appropriation bill for $6,705,418,163 will enable them to immediately begin building both manpower and equipment.

The Air Force receives $896,986,000 of the fund, but it also got a separate appropriation from Congress to build a 70-group striking arm.

Signature of the draft bill, which had not been anticipated before the July 5 deadline, makes Sept. 22, or 90 days from now, the possible beginning date of inductions.

Registrations can begin at once, but Selective Service said it would take about six weeks to set up draft board machinery. This would make the registration date around Aug. 16.

Now that the draft is law, men 19 through 25 are automatically eligible for induction into the regular armed forces, and no longer have the right to gain exemption by joining a reserve unit. Briefly, this is what the draft bill means:

All men 18 through 25 must register. But only those 19 through 25 will be subject to induction and 21 months' service in the regular Armed Forces.

A total of 161,000 youths of 18 may volunteer for one year's service in the U. S. and escape a later draft.

The bill also provides, in order to keep its pool of manpower intact, that draftees must serve three years in the active reserves

Quit Israel Army, Irgunists Told

TEL AVIV, Israel, June 24—(AP)—Irgun Zvai Leumi ordered its soldiers today to quit Israel's army and announced the organization was withdrawing its "recognition" of the Israeli government.

Irgun is a Jewish extremist fighting force whose munitions ship Altalena, an LST, was blown up by Israel soldiers Tuesday night after a bloody battle on the Tel Aviv beach. The crew was seeking to run in arms, forbidden under the United Nations truce.

A communique issued by the Irgun commander, Menachim Begin, said Irgun was withdrawing its recognition of Premier David Ben-Gurion's regime. At the same time, however, Irgun asked "our fighters to refrain from engaging in any combat within the Jewish camp" because of the Arab-Jewish conflict.

Thus, in effect, Irgun is returning to the role of an illegal underground group it played in harassing the British before they gave up the Palestine mandate May 15. A group of its members were arrested.

A source close to the Government said "This is a showdown as to whether we really have responsible Government." It was estimated 12 persons were killed and 40 wounded in the beach clashes between Irgunists and Israeli troops.

Tel Aviv and other parts of Israel were reported quiet today. The Government, however, continued a 9:30 p. m. curfew and extra guards were posted on the streets.

MRS. GOLDA MYERSON
Predicts Jewish Victory

Jewish Victory Predicted By Israeli Official Here

Mrs. Golda Myerson, Deputy Foreign Minister of the new Jewish State of Israel and only woman member of Israel's Council of State, confidently predicted in Atlanta Thursday the Jews would be victorious over the Arabs in Palestine.

Mrs. Myerson, who is also Administrator of the Jewish section of Jerusalem, added the Jews "are ready for peace any time the Arabs will recognize our State and respect our boundaries."

"Encouragement" of Arabs by the British was blamed by Mrs. Myerson for delaying peace. She said Britain was supplying arms to the Arab forces "because she believes it is to her oil and military interests."

Lifting of the American arms embargo to Palestine was strongly urged by the Israel leader. It would, she declared, "be one of the greatest possible influences for ending the war quickly."

Although winning of the war is the No. 1 problem facing Israel, the immigration of displaced persons from Europe ranks second in importance.

"Population of Israel is 750,000," she said, "and we could easily accommodate 2,000,000 more. There aren't that many Jews in Europe."

A native of Kiev, Russia, Mrs. Myerson has lived 27 years in Palestine. She doesn't believe Israel is in any danger of suffering from Russian aggression, and she expressed pleasure that Russia recognized the Jewish State immediately after the United States did.

Mrs. Myerson came to Atlanta in the interest of the United Jewish Appeal. She was accompanied by Harold J. Goldenberg, Associate Chairman of the UJA.

Jap Tourist Trade To Reopen—Slightly

TOYKO, June 24—(AP)—Japan has been reopened to tourists—but on an extremely limited, conducted basis.

Allied headquarters today approved the plan. Beginning July 1, the Japan Travel Bureau may conduct parties of 24 persons on a seven-day tour of famed scenic spots—one party per week. Cost: $175.

The announcement said the tourist business would help occupied Japan get foreign exchange it needs for rehabilitation.

If the response is sufficient, other tours will be arranged. The tourist trade reached a peak in 1937 when visitors left $23,000,000 in the country.

It Couldn't Happen in Convention But It Did, Bromfield Reports

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

PHILADELPHIA, June 24—(INS)—I didn't think it could happen but it did. It happened at the very last minute of the nomination session at 3 a. m., when the great Convention Hall was nearly empty.

We had been listening for three days to speeches, nothing but speeches . . . humdrum speeches, belaboring speeches, sly calculated speeches, nasty sarcastic speeches and the usual amount of political humbuggery and hypocrisy.

And we had had a score of nominating and seconding speeches by people most of whom were wallowing in the spotlight of the greatest moment they would probably ever know. All of them were too long and over-ripe with all the old chest-nuts.

About the middle of them, I said to a colleague, "If someone just got up there in front of the microphone, talked quietly, seriously and simply with real feeling and sincerity from the heart, it would knock all this hot air into a cocked hat."

The answer I got was "Brother,

you're asking too much."

During the long, trisemoe evening the backers of Dewey, Taft and Stassen staged demonstrations ranging from cold, calculated effects to moments which resembled the more agitated devices of a burlesque show. By that time it was long after midnight and people had begun to leave the auditorium. As time passed the departing numbers increased into armies.

The names of Warren, Baldwin and Vandenberg were proposed. The old formula was the same.

The big microphones belled, thundered and shrieked and at last about 3 in the morning when only a few tired and sweaty delegates and spectators remained, it happened. It was like a miracle.

Joe Martin pounded the heavy gavel and announced a young delegate named Harlan W. Kelley, of Milwaukee, would offer a name for nomination.

Then Martin announced quietly the speaker was partly blind. He had given his eyesight to the service of his country. Kelley came forward with the aid of a cane and the thing happened.

When he spoke the voice was young and warm and pleasant. It did not shout, bellow or screech. There were no clichés, nor tired worn convention phrases.

The speaker did not refer again and again to the "peepul," once he made the remark that in the Convention and in the Nation, politicians were a dime a dozen. But most of all, the voice was sincere and earnest, speaking in behalf of a man whom the young soldier sincerely admired.

It related simply the long list of unquestionably great achievements of the man whose name was put into nomination.

The effect upon the tired remnants of the audience was electric.

Heard over the radio the voice and its appeal was even more effective, for the radio has a way of assaying a political speech and revealing the dross and the humbug. This voice came through the radio clear, young, sincere.

When Kelley had finished, Joe Martin, bleary eyed and drooping with fatigue, again lifted the heavy gavel and lifted to an audience the nomination would be seconded by Gen. Jonathan Wainwright who was not a delegate but for whom a special concession had been made.

The General came forward with the aid of a cane, and the miracle happened twice. He read his speech, and he read it badly and haltingly with the emphasis in the wrong places in a way that would have elicited the eulogistic trainers of political orators.

The voice, hoarse and weak,

PROUD OF DAD—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., right, and John, accompanied by Mrs. Carl T. Hogan, a friend of the family, were proud of Dad yesterday at the GOP Convention in Philadelphia. The hard-campaigning New York Governor was unanimously nominated as candidate for President of the United States on the Republican National ticket.

FOR 'A COOL SHOWER'

Deweyites Throw In The Towel on Recess

By JACK TARVER

PHILADELPHIA, June 24—It was the heat rather than the humility which accounted for the Dewey delegates' surprising willingness to recess late today with victory apparently but minutes away.

I have walked the length of Augusta's Broad Street in dog days. I have sweltered in the noon-day sun at tobacco market openings at broke now and then. But none of this made any difference for the reading had in it what had been missing for so long . . . the quiet ring of sincerity, and there was behind it all the suffering and humiliation of Bataan.

It was weak and hoarse because of the sacrifices the thin, prematurely-aged man had made for the security and the liberties of the people sitting in the Convention Hall and the millions of their fellow citizens.

So the miracle happened. It is a pity that it came so late when the Hall was nearly empty and everyone was tired.

Vidalia, Statesboro and a dozen other South Georgia towns. And I have suffered the Fourth of July heat at campaign inaugurations at Newnan, Moultrie and Lyons. But never have I been as hot and wet and miserable as in this 15,000-seat municipal oven here today.

The few pitifully over-matched fans with which the Convention Hall is equipped only added to the torture, sending blasts of torrid air like that from an open hearth. Coats were discarded. Shirts clung to the hide, wet and dripping. Neckties became sodden ropes around the necks. Spectators were gasping, but not in surprise.

That's why, when the California Chairman, seconding the Pennsylvania recess motion, mentioned "a cool shower and fresh linen," The Dewey let's-stay-and-get-it-over-with forces threw in the towel.

With 515 votes in their hand and more promised for the delivery, they had good reason to be confident.

But wisely they chose not to test the strength on an issue weighed so heavily against them. The real Dewey enthusiast is a determined soul. He can resist the lure of proffered patronage and the pressure of threatened political reprisal.

But asking him to vote against a cool shower and a fresh shirt at a moment when the sweat is pouring from his face, running down his legs and dousing his clothes beyond the saturation point is something else again.

The New Yorker's strategists acted with their characteristic wisdom in not contesting the recess motion. Otherwise, there might have been a revolt against Dewey as well as against Truman.

It Couldn't Happen in Convention But It Did, Bromfield Reports

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

PHILADELPHIA, June 24—(INS)—I didn't think it could happen but it did. It happened at the very last minute of the nomination session at 3 a. m., when the great Convention Hall was nearly empty.

We had been listening for three days to speeches, nothing but speeches . . . humdrum speeches, bellowing speeches, sly calculated speeches, nasty sarcastic speeches and the usual amount of political humbuggery and hypocrisy.

And we had had a score of nominating and seconding speeches by people most of whom were wallowing in the spotlight of the greatest moment they would probably ever know. All of them were too long and over-ripe with all the old chest-nuts.

About the middle of them, I said to a colleague, "If someone just got up there in front of the microphone, talked quietly, seriously and simply with real feeling and sincerity from the heart, it would knock all this hot air into a cocked hat."

The answer I got was "Brother,

you're asking too much."

During the long, trisome evening the backers of Dewey, Taft and Stassen staged demonstrations ranging from cold, calculated effects to moments which resembled the more agitated devices of a burlesque show. By that time it was long after midnight and people had begun to leave the auditorium. As time passed the departing numbers increased into armies.

The names of Warren, Baldwin and Vandenberg were proposed. The old formula was the same.

The big microphones bellowed, thundered and shrieked and at last about 3 in the morning when only a few tired and sweaty delegates and spectators remained, it happened. It was like a miracle.

Joe Martin pounded the heavy gavel and announced a young delegate named Harlan W. Kelley, of Milwaukee, would offer a name for nomination.

Then Martin announced quietly the speaker was partly blind. He had given his eyesight to the service of his country. Kelley came forward with the aid of a cane and the thing happened.

When he spoke the voice was young and warm and pleasant. It did not shout, bellow or screech. There were no clichés, nor tired worn convention phrases.

The speaker did not refer again and again to the "people," once he made the remark that in the Convention and in the Nation, politicians were a dime a dozen. But most of all, the voice was sincere and earnest, speaking in behalf of a man whom the young soldier sincerely admired.

It related simply the long list of unquestionably great achievements of the man whose name was put into nomination. The effect upon the tired remnants of the audience was electric.

Heard over the radio the voice and its appeal was even more effective, for the radio has a way of assaying a political speech and revealing the dress and the humbug. This voice came through the radio clear, young, sincere.

When Kelley had finished, Joe Martin, bleary eyed and drooping with fatigue, again lifted the heavy gavel and pounded to announce the nomination would be seconded by Gen. Jonathan Wainwright who was not a delegate but for whom a special concession had been made.

The General came forward with the aid of a cane, and the miracle happened twice. He read his speech, and he read it badly and haltingly with the emphasis in the wrong places in a way that would have horrified the elocution trainers of political orators.

The voice, hoarse and weak,

PROUD OF DAD—Thomas E. Dewey, Jr., right, and John, accompanied by Mrs. Carl T. Hogan, a friend of the family, were proud of Dad yesterday at the GOP Convention in Philadelphia. The hard-campaigning New York Governor was unanimously nominated as candidate for President of the United States on the Republican National ticket.

FOR 'A COOL SHOWER'

Deweyites Throw In The Towel on Recess

By JACK TARVER

PHILADELPHIA, June 24—It was the heat rather than the humility which accounted for the Dewey delegates' surprising willingness to recess late today with victory apparently but minutes away.

I have walked the length of Augusta's Broad Street in dog days. I have sweltered in the noon-day sun at tobacco market openings at break now and then. But none of this made any difference for the reading had in it what had been missing for so long . . . the quiet ring of sincerity, and there was behind it all the suffering and humiliation of Bataan.

It was weak and hoarse because of the sacrifices the thin, prematurely-aged man had made for the security and the liberties of the people sitting in the Convention Hall and the millions of their fellow citizens.

So the miracle happened. It is a pity that it came so late when the Hall was nearly empty and everyone was tired.

Vidalia, Statesboro and a dozen other South Georgia towns. And I have suffered the Fourth of July heat at campaign inaugurations at Newnan, Moultrie and Lyons. But never have I been as hot and wet and miserable as in this 15,000-seat municipal oven here today.

The few pitifully over-matched fans with which the Convention Hall is equipped only added to the torture, sending blasts of torrid air like that from an open hearth. Coats were discarded. Shirts clung to the hide, wet and dripping. Neckties became sodden ropes around the necks. Spectators were gasping, but not in surprise.

That's why, when the California Chairman, seconding the Pennsylvania recess motion, mentioned "a cool shower and fresh linen," The Dewey let's-stay-and-get-it-over-with forces threw in the towel.

With 515 votes in their hand and more promised for the delivery, they had good reason to be confident.

But wisely they chose not to test the strength on an issue weighed so heavily against them. The real Dewey enthusiast is a determined soul. He can resist the lure of proffered patronage and the pressure of threatened political reprisal.

But asking him to vote against a cool shower and a fresh shirt at a moment when the sweat is pouring from his face, running down his legs and dousing his clothes beyond the saturation point is something else again.

The New Yorker's strategists acted with their characteristic wisdom in not contesting the recess motion. Otherwise, there might have been a revolt against Dewey as well as against Truman.

Dewey 'Advantages' Perfectly Obvious--Now

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Constitution Washington Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 24—Looking back over the hectic events of the past few days, it is easy to see now where Gov. Thomas E. Dewey always held a tremendous advantage in the spirited contest that was waged over the Republican nomination.

He not only had the most efficient and the best-seasoned campaign organization, but he had the most money, which always counts, and the greater prestige to back up his candidacy.

The fact that he was Governor of the most populous State in the Union, having been re-elected the last time by an unprecedented majority was alone sufficient to give him the first priority call on the nomination. It was an advantage which none of the other rival candidates could equal.

His main liability rested on the fact that he was defeated in his attempt, as the Republican nominee, to wrest the Presidency from Franklin D. Roosevelt four years ago. Never before in its long history has the Republican Party given a defeated presidential candidate a second try.

But this liability was somewhat minimized by the fact that Dewey, even in defeat, came out of that campaign with a certain distinction. He ran the incomparable FDR a closer race than any other opponent the popular late four-term President ever faced. Roosevelt beat him by only about 3,500,000 votes, contrasted with the 10,000,000 majority he piled up against Alf Landon at the zenith of his popularity in 1936.

Gov. Dewey never was quite able to overcome his second most conspicuous liability—that revolving around his frigid and somewhat aloof personality. If he had had a greater charm in this respect, he undoubtedly would have won far more easily.

It was on the practical political side of things, however, that Dewey surpassed his opponents so far. The organization which steered his campaign to its final dramatic conclusion here Thursday night was well-seasoned, well-oiled and far more efficient than anything the opposition was able to muster against him.

It is a holdover from the same organization that brought him the nomination four years ago. Its leaders evidently profited by the past defeat and learned much during the intervening years. Mr. Dewey himself appears to have gained something in political maturity during that time.

Still another factor that worked to his advantage was the fact that from the start, he occupied a position of being the candidate the others had to stop before being

Highlights in the life of Thomas E. Dewey, 1948 Republican presidential nominee:

BORN—March 24, 1902, Owosso, Mich.

GRADUATED—University of Michigan, A. B., 1923; Columbia, L. L. B., 1925.

MARRIED—Frances Eileen Hutt, of Sherman, Texas, in 1928; two sons, Thomas E., Jr., and John M.

FIRST PUBLIC OFFICE—Selected as Assistant U. S. Attorney for Southern District of New York, 1931.

FIRST NATIONAL RECOGNITION—Successful Special Prosecutor of organized New York City crime in 1935.

ELECTION VICTORIES—Defeated powerful Tammany Hall opposition to win office of New York County District Attorney in 1937; elected Governor of New York in 1942; re-elected in 1946.

ELECTION LOSSES—Lost governorship of New York to Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat, in 1938; lost presidential campaign to the late Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1944.

POLITICAL VICTORIES—Won Republican nomination for President in 1944 and 1948.

POLITICAL LOSS—Dropped the Republican nomination for President in 1940 to the late Wendell L. Willkie.

paigned, never was given much of a chance from the beginning. His liberal background and rather direct methods made him distrusted by Old Guard elements of the Party, who still are a dominant force.

And so it was that Gov. Dewey had pretty much fair sailing all along. If a stronger figure had arisen in the Party to challenge his candidacy, the chances are that the result might have been different. Or of the opposition forces had been able to concentrate on one man, such as Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, for example, a different result might have been accomplished.

Most of the chips were on Dewey's side throughout. He and his managers played them exceedingly well right up to the end, including the blitz tactics here at the Convention which threatened to jeopardize his position at a Republican Party for President.

a "magnificent" platform proclaiming "the guideposts that will mark our steadfast and certain endeavor in a fearful world."

This platform, Dewey said, "will be the cornerstone of our Republican administration."

Promising to lead the country to a unity it "tragically" needs, he added that free men everywhere must labor together to keep freedom alive.

The New York Governor was accompanied to the Convention Hall by Mrs. Dewey. They rode in the big black New York State executive car with license plate "NY 1." His close assistants, police officers and newspapermen followed.

As Dewey left the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel a large crowd gave him a tremendous ovation.

"That's the next President," and "that's the boy, Tom," some of them shouted.

A woman was jumping up and down on the sidewalk, clapping her hands.

Within minutes after the Taft-Stassen forces concede his nomination, a big red, white and blue banner was spread across the entrance of the hotel. "Dewey wins, congratulations," it read.

Dewey was met by a Convention reception committee consisting of Gov. Thomas J. Herbert of Ohio, Sen. William F. Knowland of California, Russell Sprague, National Committeeman from New York, Stanley Gwinn of Missouri, and Lew Wentz, National Committeeman from Oklahoma.

Dewey was taken into a little cement floored basement room before going before the Convention to deliver his speech.

A great cheer arose in the hall when he entered through the distinguished visitors gallery.

He was preceded by his associates and a minute later was on the platform in full view of the delegates shaking hands with Chairman Joseph Martin, Jr.

Mrs. Dewey, wearing a black suit, black hat and a pink and white corsage stood, smiling, beside him.

Dewey wore a gray suit, white shirt and red and grey silk tie. He was serious but still half-smiling as Martin gavelled for order.

Clutched in his right hand was the speech he was about to deliver. Ushers crowded in behind him with a garrison-size United States Flag made of red, white and blue flowers.

Martin introduced Dewey.

He said Dewey would "lead this country on the path to peace and prosperity."

erans of World War II, but the graying "old guard" Legionnaires of World War I still appeared to be in the majority, happy to be at another reunion, but more sedate than in days gone by.

Hotel lobby conversations centered on the battle for State Commander between Eric Cocke, Jr., of Dawson, Vane G. Hawkins, of Athens, and Bill Todd, of Atlanta. Cocke is a much-decorated hero of World War II. Hawkins served in World War I, and Todd saw service in both wars.

Lobby observers seemed to view the contest as a close one between Cocke and Todd, with Hawkins rated third man in the race. Both the Todd and Cocke camps both predicted victory.

"I'm confident I've got the votes to win," said tall, handsome, 28-year-old Cocke, who is present Senior Vice Commander of the Georgia Department.

"We'll win on the first ballot," predicted Todd, retiring Commander of Atlanta Post No. 1, seventh largest in the Nation. "The other boys are running on their record," he said. "I maintain the war is over now. We have an enviable record of service to the Legion," added the 50-year-old outspoken advocate of better housing and preference for veterans, known to his supporters as "that grey-haired little old son-and-so."

Hawkins was not available for comment, but the Athens man, active for 20 years in the Legion, apparently is out to make a fight for the post.

Formerly Executive Director of the Georgia Agricultural and Industrial Development Board, Cocke is now General Industrial Agent for the Central of Georgia Railway. Todd is an automobile tire dealer, and Hawkins a lawyer.

One of the principal items of business before the convention is expected to be moves using new veterans' housing legislation.

Amid a round of entertainments at various Legion Posts in the Atlanta area, a huge downtown parade at 4 p. m. Saturday will be a high spot in the convention high jinks.

The American Legion Auxiliary is holding its State Convention concurrently, with Mrs. C. L. Edmunds, of Augusta, as President.

which will lay a fatuous claim to all of Germany.

Continued Allied occupation of a Berlin paralyzed by military isolation can have no great material value, but American withdrawal would be taken throughout Europe as a confession of weakness which would threaten our entire standing on the continent. It could lead only to more crises in such places as Austria and Trieste.

The Communists are hard pressed by the improvement in Western European economy which is gradually closing the door on revolutionary expansion possibilities. They see the ties which unite the West growing stronger and stronger, with a powerful military coalition in the offing. They may lash out vigorously in one last effort before the wall of containment grows too high.

But they are not likely to attack any Allied troops. The danger of civil war has become a dim memory in Italy and France. Even the most rabid Communist-supported Nationalists in Germany have neither the arms nor the stomach for any real trouble.

Germany will be split. A lot of people during the war and since thought that is what should happen to her. They didn't envision, of course, that any power should confiscate the pieces, nor that a unified Germany would be so badly needed for European economic recovery. But the split, made formal, will actually have little more effect than the de facto division which has existed for two years. It is hard to see how it will materially affect the positions of the contending powers. Russia's gyrations seem to be approaching the point of futility.

Reds Get U. S. Warning

WASHINGTON, June 24—(P)—The United States asked the Communist-controlled nations of Eastern Europe today to return at once to Greece between 10,000 and 14,000 children allegedly kidnapped and sent to them by Greek guerrillas.

State Department officials said the request was aimed at Albania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Romania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

They noted that Greek guerrilla leader Gen. Markos Vafiades said on May 26, that 10,000 children had been sent out of Greece as refugees. Other reports, the Department added, place the figure at nearer 14,000.

A Department statement said: "The United States Government honestly hopes that the governments will make available without further delay full and factual information on any Greek children in their respective territories and promptly arrange for the repatriation of those who were separated from their families by force or the threat of force."

Officials said the American statement will be supported by a similar statement issued simultaneously in London. It is based on a United Nations committee report of last May 21, declaring that large numbers of children had been removed from the guerrilla-held areas of Greece to the Communist bloc countries with the approval and assistance of their governments.

The Greek Government also has asked the seven countries to return the children.

A Department spokesman reported that Hungary on June 7, rejected the Greek request and two days later the Poles replied that they do not have any Greek children on their territory.

China Won't Veto Jap Aid

NANKING, June 24—(P)—Foreign Minister Wang Chih-shieh was quoted today as saying China will not oppose aid "within certain limits" to make Japan self-sufficient again.

Guards Indicted; Beat Convicts?

AUGUSTA, June 24—(P)—Three Richmond County stockade guards were indicted by a county grand jury today on charges of beating prisoners.

The death of a Negro convict, Crawford, brought the grand jury investigation. Charges were made that Crawford had an eye beaten out at the stockade. A coroner's jury held that he died of natural causes—a liver disease.

The three guards accused in today's indictments are Davis Turner, Alvin Jones and Horace Wingard. All are under suspension. Turner was accused of beating Crawford and eight other Negro convicts, Jones with beating two Negro convicts, and Wingard with beating a white man.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

TOTALLY PAGAN

Beauty Contests Forbidden To Girls by Bishop

WHEELING, W. Va., June 24—(AP)—Bishop John J. Swint told Catholic girls of the Wheeling Diocese yesterday to stay out of beauty contests or be excommunicated.

His warning came after a Catholic girl, Miss Gertrude Bedway, dropped out of a contest here. She said the bishop told her to withdraw or be expelled from the church.

Bishop Swint confirmed the girl's explanation. He called modern beauty pageants "totally pagan" and "absolutely immoral," and protested the "indecent exposure" of girls' bodies before the public.

"How any girl can submit herself to that ordeal is beyond me," the bishop told a reporter. "If nakedness were eliminated, the whole thing would fall to pieces."

Scouts Demand Investigation Of Camp Raid

NEW YORK, June 24—(UP)—The Girl Scouts of America announced today it had filed a complaint with the U. S. Attorney General asking for a full Federal investigation of the raid June 11 on a training camp for Negro girls near Bessemer, Ala.

A number of men, wearing white hoods and sheets, invaded the camp at 11 p. m. and questioned two white girls conducting the course for some 20 Negro Girl Scouts. They warned the directors to "get out" and the white girls sent the Negro girls home the next day.

Mrs. Paul Rittenhouse, National Director, also issued a resolution passed today by the National Executive Committee which said:

"It will continue to be the policy of the Girl Scouts of the United States of America to serve all their members regardless of race or creed and to extend membership as rapidly as possible to all those who wish to join. We shall continue our countrywide program of training adults for leadership and shall provide for this purpose the best available instructors drawn from local groups and the national staff."

Gas Truck Burns

NEW YORK, June 24—(UP)—A gasoline truck, fueling an American Airlines DC-6, broke into flames as passengers were boarding the plane at LaGuardia Field today, but the fire was extinguished within 30 seconds and no one was injured.

His Work Is Cut Out

PHILADELPHIA—The new Republican nominee has his work cut out for him.

Despite the examples of party unity which made Gov. Dewey the nominee before the third ballot began, the victory-confident Party, which hung together during the lean years, is already giving evidence of dividing into camps whose conflicts are as clearly delineated as the divergent factions of the Democrats.

The struggle for the nomination was the most bitter in years. Unless those wounds can be healed before November, party apathy may make victory considerably less assured than it now seems. Particularly will this be true if President Truman, who has demonstrated a tremendous faculty for rallying from the nadir of public esteem, capitalizes on his off-the-cuff campaign talks as much as those who accompanied him on his recent Western swing think he can.

One has to have seen the desperate Taft and Stassen forces at work, admittedly conferring with Joe Pew, Pennsylvania's political boss, in an effort to ditch Dewey, to realize how great is the antipathy in which they hold him. One has to have heard the bitterness in their voices as they denounced the New Yorker's blitz tactics to realize that theirs is something more than temporary chagrin and disappointment. And one has to have witnessed the Taft men, shedding angry tears at the announcement that the pivotal New Jersey delegation had leaped aboard the Dewey bandwagon to know that the breach in the Republican Party is found on every level.

The struggle in the Republican Party will continue.

The differences between the thinking of Col. McCormick and John Foster Dulles on the international situation are too marked to be reconciled. And on domestic matters, a Republican President would have as much difficulty getting co-operation out of John Taber and his group on the many pieces of progressive legislation promised in the Republican platform as did President Truman.

It will take a masterful politician to placate both extremes. It will take some careful maneuvering to prevent a situation whereunder an open break with one side or the other will be unavoidable.

The new Republican nominee has his work cut out for him. —J. T.

Atlanta Welcomes the Legion

The Constitution is happy to welcome the American Legion State convention to Atlanta. Most of The Constitution employees are ex-service men and women and many of them are members of the Legion. We are sorry it is so hot. This is very unusual weather for Atlanta. Ordinarily, at this time of the year, we have snow flurries and coats are needed. But, otherwise, we think Atlanta will provide her usual hospitable reception. We like the Legion and hope it likes us.

It's Up to the Courts, Now

All of those arrested in the surprise raid on Honky-Tonk Row in South Upson County about two weeks ago have been released on bond and it is reported most of the establishments are open for business.

Seven places were raided. The charges against the operators ranged from operating a lewd house to gambling. Several women were booked on charges of prostitution and contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The Constitution took the occasion of the raid to commend those responsible. Certainly the community, and the State as well, owe them a debt of gratitude for having performed their duty well. It now is up to the courts to back up their efforts with sentences that will be stiff enough to abolish Honky-Tonk Row forever.

As the Thomaston Times aptly put it: "These dealers in commercialized vice in South Upson have been raided many times and a lot of them have been padlocked but somehow always manage to reopen and continue doing business. It is hoped the last raid will rid the county of most of these places of vice. They have given Upson County a bad reputation throughout the country and must be stamped out by some means. It is shameful that the whole county's good name should suffer for the misdeeds of a small segment. We hope the courts will be severe enough this time in its punishment of the offenders to deter them from future operations in this vicinity."

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

P. T. Barnum Couldn't Do Any Better

PHILADELPHIA—An American political convention is still the greatest show on earth. In magnitude it is a half dozen Barnum and Bailey Circuses wrapped into one, operating under the same roof, with only the wild animals and trapeze artists missing. The deficiency in this respect, however, is more than made up in a number of other ways. For one thing, the political footwork of some of the Presidential candidates is equal in a way to any performance the trapeze experts are capable of putting on. Gov. Dewey and his managers gave a splendid exhibition of this in the blitz tactics they have followed throughout the proceedings.

And even the animal theme has not been entirely lacking in the present GOP national convocation. Friends of Sen. Robert A. Taft imported a real live baby elephant to the scene as a symbol both of the party and the Ohio candidate's staunch Republicanism. "Little Eva," as she is known, has been continually paraded about hotel lobbies and other places where the delegates and convention hangers-on mill around. Her chief rival is a huge inflated rubber elephant that stands on the marquee at the main entrance of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, headquarters for most of the leading Presidential candidates and a mob scene throughout most of the day. For some reason unknown to the public, the rubber pachyderm has developed a tendency to deflate every few hours. Reports can be heard to suggest that a Democratic spy, armed with a pin shooting device, has infiltrated into the precincts.

Next month when the Democrats move in for a repeat performance of their quadrennial show the rubber elephant on the hotel marquee will probably give way to an inflated donkey of the same size—the symbol of the Democratic Party.

Foreigners who see one of the national political conventions for the first time are always amazed at the extravaganzas and the showmanship effects created. Amid the turmoil and the hoopla accompanying the nomination speeches at the convention hall one was heard to remark naively: "How do they decide on who gets nomination—the crowd making the biggest noise, I suppose."

He was perhaps nearer right than it seems.

JOHN MARVIN RAST

Pray without ceasing.—1 Thessalonians 5:17. A maid servant overhearing some ministers speaking of taking a month to prepare a paper on the Christian exhortation to pray without ceasing, spoke to one of them to say that the text was so simple she could see no point in waiting a month to explain it. She then proceeded to tell what it meant to her. She said that upon opening her eyes in the morning she prayed, "Lord, open the eyes of my understanding"; while dressing she prayed to be clothed with righteousness; in bathing, to have the washing of regeneration; in kindling the fire, to have God's work revived in her soul; in preparing meals, to be fed with the manna and sincere milk of the Word; in ministering to the children, to have the spirit of adoption. The minister too saw the folly of postponing the study.

As Thou, Lord God, art all and in all, speak to us in every experience of the day, through Christ our Redeemer.

RALPH MCGILL

Georgia May Produce 2d Party

Georgia's politics seems to possess the political qualities necessary to attract national attention... even our Republican politics.

At Philadelphia printers were busy with the word "Georgia." The heavy thinkers devoted themselves to an analysis of the decision which gave the heavy to the Georgia rump delegation and seated the one which had been authorized four years ago by the Republican Convention of that year.

The delegation seated was for Dewey. The rump contenders were for Taft.

There were, of course, good men in the losing delegation. But for the most part, it contained, too, the worst element of Southern Republicanism. It is a healthy thing for the State, and the South, that it was refused seats. Most of its members did not envision an effort to develop a real Republican Party in the South.

The State of Georgia has one law for the Democrats. It applied another for the Republicans, a decision which the National Convention has overridden, and quite properly. One can but hope that Georgia will recognize the will of the National Convention and recognize its delegates as its own affair. We need this new force in Georgia.

Truth It is well to tell the truth, and the truth is that the Republican Party in the South has been, to a large degree, a carpetbag operation. Federal jobs in the South have, in the past, usually had price tags on them.

That is a matter of record. The Southern Republican carpetbaggers became so bad that in 1930 the Brookhart Committee, after a long investigation, reported that in Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas the sale of post offices and other Federal jobs was a flagrant evil.

George Sen. Walter F. George, of Georgia, is quoted in the record as follows:

"Not one cent collected from postal employees in Georgia has gone to support the Republican Party, but all of it was appropriated to the private use of officials of the Republican Party in Georgia, except so much as may have been necessary for actual office expenses of the Republican State Committee."

The reports are sickening in their corruption and brazen misuse of money, and the evidence from Georgia is as bad as any, unless it be that of Mississippi. The Committee, discussing that State, said that Perry W. Howard "carried on the sale of offices in a business-like way." He is still active in Republican affairs in Mississippi.

"Take" Georgia's Republicans of that time, said the Committee, "had set up a regular collecting organization which would indicate from cards turned over to the Committee that it was his purpose (John W. Martin, then State Treasurer of the Party) to secure from five percent to 10 percent of the salary of the postmasters and practically all the other Federal officers appointed in Georgia."

It is a sordid story which the Brookhart Committee uncovered. It pictures well the story of Republicanism in the South.

New Look Georgia is likely to become the rallying point for the real development of a second party in the South because of the action of the National Convention.

The selection of Mrs. Robert Snodgrass, graduate of the University of Michigan and a citizen interested in civic and governmental affairs, as National State Committeewoman, is an illustration of the plan to build a party in Georgia which will command the confidence and respect of the people and thereby attract a following. Brig. Gen. Elbert Tuttle, one of Atlanta's best-known citizens and attorneys, who led the fight which won for his delegation in Philadelphia, stood fast against pressure to make "deals."

Harry Summers, who will be the new National Committeeman for Georgia, said before going to the convention that if his group won, that patronage in Georgia would go to men of character and integrity who would command the respect of their fellow citizens. In a statement after the victory Summers said:

"If this Committee has any responsibilities in connection with assisting the Government with selecting employees, it will do everything in its power to pick the right people for the job."

Certainly there will be no jobs with price tags on them.

RALPH T. JONES

Public Attitude on Leprosy All Wrong

Col. G. H. Rarey, U. S. A., retired, a fellow Decaturite, is National Vice-President of the American Federation of the Physically Handicapped, Inc. Tomorrow, at the convention of the Georgia Department of the American Legion, now in progress in Atlanta, Col. Rarey will be one of the speakers. His topic will be "Hansen's Disease." More generally known as leprosy.

In the July issue of Holland's, The Magazine of the South, there is an informative article about the National Leprosarium at Carville, La. Specifically, it is about "The Star" monthly magazine published by the patients at Carville, and about its editor. This magazine is circulated in all of the 48 states and in 32 foreign countries. They print it on a job press, 5,500 copies each month.

I doubt if there is any human condition about which more superstitious ignorance exists than this disease. The cruel ignorance stems from 2,000 and more years ago, when the word "leper" was synonymous with "outcast," "unclean" and moral degradation.

As a matter of calm, scientific fact, leprosy is far less dangerous than tuberculosis, syphilis, cancer or a score of other diseases which inspire far less public fear.

The American Medical Association, in an effort to remedy this tragic public misconception, bans the word "leper" from its publications. And, as a fact, "Hansen's Disease" is the correct term.

Number Infected. It is estimated there are between 3,000 and 5,000 persons with Hansen's Disease in the United States. That many of these are extremely mild, non-dangerous, or else not correctly diagnosed, is evidenced by the fact that the number of patients now at Carville is only 397. Carville is the only leprosarium in this country.

Of the 397 patients, 32 are veterans of World War II. It is expected that other cases among veterans—especially those who served in Pacific areas where the disease is common—will develop. Sometimes it takes more than five years after the disease is contracted for recognizable symptoms to appear.

That it is extremely difficult to contract the disease is shown by the fact that, in all the years of the Carville history, not one doctor or nurse has contracted the disease.

In at least 50 per cent of cases the disease is not communicable at all and in all other cases it is listed, medically, as but "feebly communicable."

Legion Interest. Editorials in the above-mentioned "Star" have frequently told of the splendid contribution to morale of the patients made by such groups as local posts of The American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary, the 40 and 8. It is, therefore, peculiarly fitting that Col. Rarey should speak tomorrow on the subject before the Georgia Legion Convention.

In summation, remember that medical science has made, in recent years, long strides forward in its effort to eradicate the disease entirely, to find a cure.

But, as a matter of fact, in combating "Hansen's Disease" there is a tougher problem to be solved. That is the eradication of public ignorance. It is this ignorance, reflected not only in public reaction, but in some of our medieval laws, which is far more cruel than the disease itself.

Find out the truth about Hansen's Disease for yourself, then join that growing group of humane citizens trying to disseminate that truth to all people.

AUGUSTA HERALD

It's All Different Now

We see by the papers that the City's Personnel Board is receiving applications for the position of clerk in the City water works. The job is open to a woman only and she must be at least 18, with a high school education and some business experience.

My! My! They sure do things differently at City Hall now. We can remember—it was just a short while ago—when that job would have been filled on a political pay-off basis. City Council would authorize an additional clerk for that department. Then the ward bosses and the ward-healers would get busy. The successful applicant might be 16 or 60 and may or may not have had any business experience. That would not count. It would be the vote-getting ability of the woman and her relatives and friends.

As a matter of fact, even though there might not have been a need for an additional clerk in the old days, if some vote-getter had to be paid off the job would have been created willfully.

But it is different at the City Hall now. And who would say, unless he had some axe to grind, that this is not a far healthier condition for all the taxpayers?

Waiting in the Wings

JACK TARVER

Ready To Change Ponies Yet?

PHILADELPHIA—There is, insofar as the Republican Party is concerned, nothing to the adage that opportunity knocks but once.

The GOP nominated Tom Dewey again here last night. It was just like four years ago, except that this time he has hopes of winning.

A lot of things have changed since 1944, including the White House Hooper rating.

Dewey has developed considerably since the days it was said of him: "He's the kind of person you've got to get to know before you really dislike him."

Dewey was the ideal compromise candidate for the Republicans—not as capable as Taft nor as popular as Stassen.

His campaign was masterfully devised and executed. If he handles the nation's foreign relations as adroitly as he does his own political ones, Russia will climb aboard the American bandwagon before the second ballot.

Of course, Dewey first has to go through the formality of being elected. That may be more difficult than he thinks. Some of the Taft people have already suggested a slogan for the Democrats:

"Don't change ponies in the middle of the stream."

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters on either side of any subject. They should not exceed 200 words and must be signed, although names will be withheld on request. We regret none can be returned. Address all letters to Editor Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Women Drivers Better?

Editor Constitution: The disgraceful vehicular fatality rate in Atlanta is horrible enough in itself. But evident on police and medical statistics is the fact the drivers involved are males in eight instances out of 10.

This fact is a creditable boon to womanhood behind the wheel and offers notice of proven example to the speed-mad and showoff masculine operator who seems to imagine himself a participant in the Indianapolis race, and probably assumes that school kids, infants, and the aged are put in his path for the purpose of murdering as would a hunter in a jeep while on a motorized game hunt.

MILTON FRISCH.

Atlanta.

Labor Saved

Editor Constitution: After listening to the GOP "keynote" and Mr. Luce's follow-up I came to my office with the intention of writing your paper a letter on my reaction to said messes of vituperation.

But, after reading your editorials on the subject, I only type this to congratulate your editorial staff for covering the ground so thoroughly.

JOHN D. WEBB.

Atlanta.

Is It Permanent?

Editor Constitution: I want to congratulate you and your associates in your very fine work in forcing Political Director John Beasley to resign as head of the State Highway Department. I am quite sure that the very able editorials in The Constitution made up Mr. Beasley's mind for him.

But, after all, is what you have accomplished permanent? I will just stake you a pint of the best sweet milk in Atlanta that Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson will reappoint Beasley and that he will be sitting right over in the office of the Highway Department not later than Sept. 10, ready to reward his friends and punish his enemies. The rewards will be few and the punishment will be great... Suppose you quiz Mr. Thompson as to what will happen after Sept. 8, over in the State Highway Department. The rotten mess in the State Highway Department makes me more determined than ever to fight for a Constitutional Highway Board, COMPLETELY divorced from the Governor's office.

F. H. SILLS.

Another Plum?

Editor Constitution: We have read and heard a great deal recently about the enormous cost to the taxpayers, of the program of public housing in the Atlanta area. It is hard to understand how any fair minded citizen or clear thinking city official could endorse a bill to saddle the people of this community with an additional share of a $9,000,000,000 public debt such as would have been incurred by the Federal Government under the T. E. W. Bill had the endorsement of the Mayor of Atlanta and the lobby of mayors succeeded in creating this additional "Federal plum" to be plucked.

A few days ago, a speaker on one of the local radio stations referred to the "Pittsburgh area" of Atlanta as having been without street improvements or street paving even though it has existed within the corporate limits for more than 50 years. In view of this statement, it is rather hard to explain or justify the resurfacing of Techwood Drive through the heart of one of Atlanta's public housing projects which is nontax producing as compared with the Pittsburgh area where the property owners surely are paying taxes to the City.

It would seem that the nonsubsidized taxpayer home owners in areas badly in need of street improvements would be up in arms over this public expenditure in a tax free area.

Prices--Wages

Editor Constitution: I would like to ask Mr. Will S. Davis, of Toccoa, a question. The Government men said we must have higher wages or lower prices. Benjamin Franklin said, "Increase your income." What is the difference? Mr. Davis said that any family which cannot now live on its income has never saved anything. That is the price saving statement of the year. That may be true in some cases, where salaries have doubled, or more, or in businesses where it expenses go up they raise the price of their product. To make a general statement of "any family" proves that Mr. Davis is ignorant of conditions in many families, especially the so-called white-collar workers, of which I am one.

A person can cut his expenses to a certain degree, but there are some things on the "must" list, such as food, clothing, dentist, etc. All of these things have gone up all out of proportion to our salary. If Mr. Davis will tell me how to reduce my "wants" to a lower level without going naked, living in a hollow tree and eating blackberries, I will be most grateful.

No Democracy Here?

Editor Constitution: Every word is ambiguous. But I suppose "democracy" is about the most ambiguous word I have ever heard. I have been told that all Americans live in a democratic society and state. I fought against the Japanese forces in the last war and was told that it was to preserve a democracy back in the United States. I voted the Democratic ticket in the Roosevelt-Dewey election while overseas, having been informed that the democratic way of life was a Christian way of life for all.

The only sign of democracy I have ever seen (as we hold it to be) was during my 42 months overseas. When will it come to America? I know of only one definition of democracy for the South and that is the hatred that pierce men's hearts as they create segregation and push Darwin's unfit species aside.

GOP Up to Its Old Tricks

PHILADELPHIA—It is clear from the theme developed at its national convention that the Republican Party again, as in the 1946 Congressional elections, is going to run against Communism, which it identifies as the Democratic Party. Every speaker has skipped up and down the keyboard with this tune until it becomes very tiresome to the ear and very wearing on the nerves, like the strumming of a drunk at the twangy piano in the corner of the speakeasy during the day, every day, every day.

"Yes, the Democrats have Communists" rose to the rafters here in the piping, chirruping upper keyboard notes of Clare Boothe Luce, the Republican female jester. And the low and ominous tones of Herbert Hoover, the elder statesman, who mesmerized the delegates with his picture of Communist hobgoblins which he portrayed as even infiltrating our universities along with the other customary places usually cited by Republicans—labor unions, "the intelligentsia," and government. It all seemed out of character for a man identified for so many years with one of our great universities, himself an intellectual, especially in a speech about the fight for freedom of the human spirit. The tune was played in between the appearance of these two stars by lesser figures.

The theme is developed nicely to its crescendo. It starts off with how the late Franklin D. Roosevelt was "taken in" by Joe Stalin, and how his successor was likewise beguiled, with reference to the way to Henry Wallace whom Clare Luce familiarly referred to as "Red Hank," and then winds up with a fearsome picture of Communists sneaking around stealthily in every government office in Washington.

And, in their demonstration, Republicans of President Truman as their chief witness, citing his retreat before the hysteria. This was best done by Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin in his speech to the convention, when he said:

"At first, the Administration protested there were no Communists in government. Can you imagine that! Then, having read the election returns in 1946, the Administration finally confessed, and asked for $25,000,000 to run the Communists out of the government. Ponder that for a moment! How expensive can a confession of the soul be?"

Little Joe had Harry there. The delegates nodded understandingly.

Joe, of course, did not go on with the story to tell how that super-sleuth, J. Edgar Hoover, has already gone with his magnifying glass through over 1,000,000 government employees and come out with virtually no culprits, only a handful who might not meet all the qualifications for security for one reason or another, some of which have nothing to do with Communism. Nobody else ever goes on with the story, either.

The Republican cry about Communists in government is, of course, a myth, and the rest of the story about Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman likewise has little relation with historic facts. But that does not matter.

It's a good issue. It covers up so many omissions by Congress. Just how good it is as an issue was discovered by this reporter in a trip over the country in 1946. The fear of Communism, pumped up by Republicans had penetrated even to what Sen. Taft calls "whistle-stops," where no one ever saw a Communist and where no Communist would venture because he would be awful lonesome and would find he could not drum up a crowd unless he was selling some new kind of hair tonic, or rheumatism remedy, or a gadget to slice potatoes in some new way. The workers of the world at the "whistle-stops" are in no mood to be united. For they all have money. And it is this fact that stirs them up, for a Communist is somebody who wants to take some of it. Hence the fear.

The Communist bogey works another way, too, which suits very well some of the privileged interests which are camping again around Congress in Washington. A Party platform can say all it pleases with nice, brave words about housing and public power and social welfare measures once accepted in this country, but these become "Socialistic" or "Communist" when somebody wants to do something about them, as those of us who follow Congress daily in Washington have seen in the last few months.

The whirlwind of noise about Communism here drowned out the few stray voices raised for a progressive program for his party and suggested for a party that expects to take over the government in these times. The middle road had few spokesmen. Most notable among them was Gov. Earl Warren of California, who called for a progressive program for his party and suggested, along among leaders here, that the Eightieth Congress had not done all the things it should have done.

But he got little attention.

THE QUESTION:

What courtesies do you appreciate most from others?

THE ANSWERS:

PAUL WESTMORELAND, 403 South Ninth St., Griffin, Ga., student—I like for friends or acquaintances to speak to me if I meet them on the street. People ought to take their place in lines, not try to crowd into them. They should go to the back of the line. I don't like for a girl to stand me up on a date.

MRS. J. R. KIRK, 34 Alden Ave., N. W., housewife—Oh, I think consideration more than anything else. In every respect I think in the way you speak—showing kindness and consideration for someone else's opinion. I think you should be extra polite to strangers.

BILLY MILLS, 106 North Wall St., Calhoun, Ga., student—Well, I don't know, exactly. I like to see courtesy. I think everybody ought to be polite to other people. You ought to help old ladies cross the street, or if they drop groceries on the bus, you should assist. I'd like for people to be considerate to me, too.

ROBERT HALL, 911 Winburn Dr., East Point, Ga., student—Courtesy—do you mean from people you know or people you meet? I think you'd probably expect more courtesy from someone you've known longer. I'll make a person print a reflection if this doesn't sound like I want it. We're right in the middle of no place. I was just thinking, if you were introduced to a person, that first impression this doesn't seem like much of a subject to wander around in. A person you've known longer is more relaxed—courteous without thinking.

FRANCES SMITH, McDonough, Ga., high school student—Well, I like table manners as much as anything. Usually, I think you can judge a person by his table manners. I don't know what I appreciate most. When I meet someone, I at least expect that person to be courteous enough to smile. If you have a lot of packages, I think it's nice for others not to run into you, and nicer for them to offer to hold them for you on the trolley.

JOYCE ANN WHITEHEAD, 182 Georgia Ave., S. W., schoolgirl—Well, I like for people to say, "Excuse me," when they bump into me; help older people onto street cars and open doors and give them seats. I just help others and don't ask for any help from them unless they just volunteer to help me. Anyone on the street who needs some directions to go someplace, I'm glad to stop and help.

L. E. GREEN, Route 1, Dallas, Ga., electrical sales—Politeness. I think in a lot of our stores, the clerks should show a little more courtesy in the way they approach customers. They should carry a smile with them—not look like they were bored on the world. Emphasize this Southern hospitality that we're supposed to be noted for! In traveling over the West and North, I've found that we're far in the rear on it.

BUGS BAER The big advantage of war is you know which side you're on. In peace, you are scattered like an idiot's wits.

We made another trial with the league under its modern monicker of United Nations. And both of them flopped like the ears on a sick mule.

Trouble starts in two directions in this tough old world. When the diplomats turn the works over to the generals. And again when the generals turn the works over to the diplomats.

Having your choice of war or peace might be okay. If you could tell the difference.

Candy Mountain Was Never Like This

PHILADELPHIA—Chocolate ice cream sodas will flow from every drinking fountain. Smiling cops will hand out neckties and, or, black silk panties to every jaywalker. And no sooner will a taxpayer come down with a hangover before the Secretary of Interior is hovering over him with restoratives. If the Republicans win the election, that is, and run the country like they have their convention.

The Rock Candy Mountain never was like this conclave of the GOP. Food and drink and haberdashery, all free. Cornob pipes, chewing gum, and headache powders on the house. Whiskey ditto, and strong black coffee.

Free ice to put in free orange juice, or to place tenderly on heads made feverish by free beer. Free rides in busses de luxe, super-duper Fords, and long black limousines. Free fans, peanuts, balloons, cheese sandwiches, cookies, iced tea and soda pop. Free matches to light free cigarettes. Free rumba bands, fashion shows, and songs by Gladys Swarthout.

In all my convention going I've never seen anything like this. A delegate can't walk out of his hotel without being offered something free, such as a massage for his feet, a night in a Turkish bath, or a cheese sandwich.

This generosity is plain delightful. Some of it comes from kindly Philadelphians, some from manufacturers seeking to advertise their wares, some from home State patriots publicizing their products, and some from candidates wooing delegates.

You've read about Tom Dewey's door prizes of linens, perfume, and silver cigarette lighters, but not everybody gets those. You've got to be lucky.

But anybody can fill up on cheese, 1,000 pounds of which was shipped in here by the proud cheesemakers of Monroe, Wis. Anybody can have a necktie, red or blue, of standard $1 quality and decorated with portraits of either the Hon. Dewey, or the Hon. Bob Taft. This is a good deal. Keep your coat buttoned and the pictures don't show.

Dewey's also passing out the pipes. Dozens of little men are circulating among the crowds, begging 'em to accept packages of cigarettes from their manufacturer. On every bureau top in every hotel room is a bottle of headache tablets with the compliments of their maker. Newspapers are slipped under every bedroom door, while books, mostly about what a great guy is the Hon. Green, of Illinois, are in every mail box.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is passing out beer, pretzels, cream cheese, cookies and coffee in a vast lounge dedicated to the working press. (This includes Othman, of course, and I wish you hadn't asked.) One floor beneath the convention hall are the silver machines which manufacture to order ice cubes with holes in 'em. The holes, for reasons the ice men gladly will explain, are supposed to make the cubes colder than ordinary.

Nearby is a lovely lady in a red satin gown of senatoria type. She is a professional orange juice squeezer from sunny California. She has at hand a solid carload of the best navel oranges from the same locality. Everybody's patronizing her free vitamins, except maybe the delegates from Florida. These gentlemen, poor devils, suffered a tragedy.

It was their idea to pour orange juice for the Republicans. When the machinery eventually was set up, they discovered to their dismay that the Florida crop was so short they couldn't get any oranges. The management asked California if it would care to take over the operation. Would it!

Just don't worry me about my waistline; I'll go on a diet later, when I have to pay for my food.

Tale of a Pug, a Profile and a Pony

Time to go to bed, kiddies. Sun's coming up and the waiters are sweeping out the joint. But before the doorman tucks you into your taxicabs, Uncle Willie would like to spin a Broadway bedtime story about a pug, a profile and a pony. The pug was a chorus girl at one of the jazz-and-junkie joints I used to run back in the '30's. Her name was Corabelle and she was the love of stem and lavish of bosom. The profile was a wolf in Brooks Brothers clothing. His name was Percy Forrester, and to hear headwaiters tell it, he was as opulent as he was ornamental.

The pug in our story was really an ex-pug. He was known as "Bulby" Waters, and his face was as lumpy as the mashed potatoes at a drug store counter. His career as a fighter had ended the night it ran into the fists of Stonewall Jack at Madison Square Garden.

At the time our surprise saga begins, Bulby was running one of those health clubs where playboys go to punch off their paunches. Among the frustrated Dempseys who worked out at this club was Percy Forrester, and every afternoon he would box four rounds with Bulby, skipping like a grasshopper and throwing marshmallow blows while the trainer covered up and clucked in feigned admiration.

The pug and the playboy became great friends, and it's always been my theory, children, that this came about because the former's ugliness emphasized the latter's good looks.

One night this strange pair came to my cabaret to see how my chorus girls compared with those around the corner. When Percy saw Corabelle, his eyes began to open and close like camera shutters. After the show, he invited her to his table for a drink and went into his No. 1 wolf routine. But the playboy might as well have howled at the moon. Corabelle was one of those good little girls who figure the wedding bell is mightier than the milk.

For weeks Percy hung around my place breathing heavily and asking the girl the wrong questions. Bulby never said a word, but it was plain as the broken nose on his face that he, too, was mightily smitten by Corabelle, as mightily as he had once been by Stonewall Jack.

One night the playboy got desperate and after three bottles of Bollinger, asked Corabelle for the dimensions of the third finger of her left hand. And so they were married and lived happily ever after for about two months.

Then Percy's deeply rooted sense of justice got the better of him. He reasoned it was unfair to deprive the rest of the female population of its fair share of his finely etched profile, and took up with a society gal named Valerie. Night after night, the twosome played the Broadway version of Spin-the-Bottle—the players empty the bottle, then they spin. Bulby didn't approve of these goings-on. "If I had a cutie like Corabelle," he told Percy, "free beer couldn't drag me away from home."

When Corabelle learned about Percy and the society girl, she called her husband on their most expensive carpet. But instead of apologizing, the playboy informed her that a profile such as his was not meant to be hoarded. She could think it over; he was going to the gym to relax. Broken-hearted, Corabelle phoned Bulby and told him what had happened.

Percy was spittin'-mad when he got to the health club and determined to take it out on someone. But this time when he boxed with Bulby, the bout didn't follow the expected pattern. Instead of putting on his usual wincing and covering act, the pug shot a matter-of-fact left to the pit of Percy's stomach. This caused the playboy to double over and brought his handsome, open-mouthed face into closer proximity to Bulby's dukes. The trainer next smashed a left, right and left to Percy's proboscis.

It was several weeks before the bandages were off the playboy's photogenic puss. By that time Corabelle was off, too—to Reno. On her return, she announced she was through with pretty men forever, rich or otherwise. To prove her sincerity, she married Bulby.

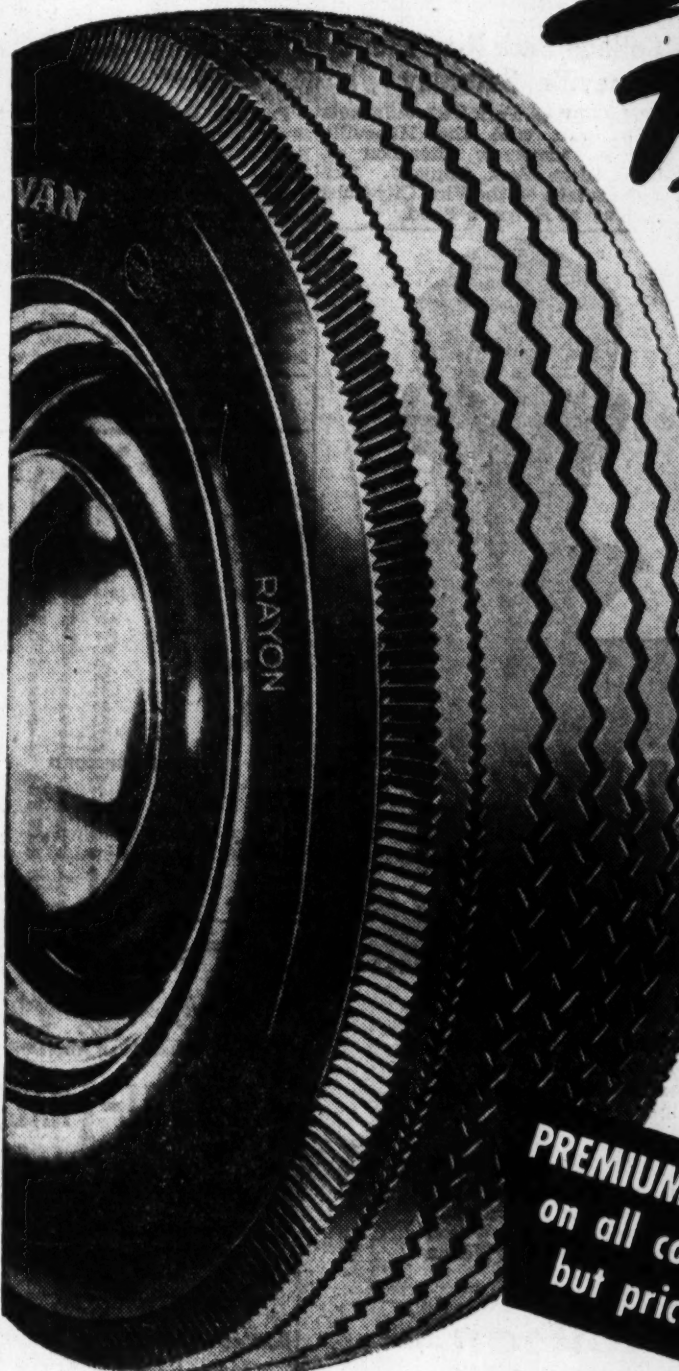

Several months later Corabelle dropped around to my office and asked me to lend her a C-note. "It's for a plastic operation," she said. "I want to buy Bulby a new nose and a smaller pair of ears."

"Why don't you let waited enough alone?" I slipped. "Didn't you have enough trouble with one Johnny-come-lately Barrymore?"

"A baby is on its way," said Corabelle, "and Bulby's face around the house would scare it right onto the analyst's chaise longue. Besides, I'm not worried about Bulby pulling a Percy on me. Faces come off as easily as they go on."

Well, a couple of months later I found out what Corabelle meant by that crack. One night she came to my cabaret with two gentlemen. One was Bulby, complete with new ears and schnoz. The other was Stonewall Jack. Stonewall wasn't saying anything, but it was evident from the glint in his good eye that he was very fond of little Corabelle.

Now go to sleep, kiddies, and you can play with those brass knuckles tomorrow.

JOHN BRADBERRY

Hero One Minute, Bum
The Next—That's Cuyler

Having existed for several years on Armychow and tested the Blue Plate Specials all over town, it is seldom that we are moved to write anything good about food.

In fact, there are only two concoctions we can recall offhand which send us away from the table with a desire to express our pleasure in print. One of them is Chicken Mull, that delightful and mysterious preparation by Squad Jones on "picture-taking" day at Georgia's opening football practice camp.

The other is a dish prepared by Mr. Rooster Paul Ovares, the concession man at the ball park. Actually, it is two dishes, one of rice and the other of chicken, but one is dependent upon the other. An essential ingredient in the cooking of both is several bottles of beer, which is used for flavor along with many spices and flavorings.

As far as we have been able to ascertain, these dishes are nameless, other than "chicken and rice cooked in beer" but their flavor defies description and any name would be entirely inadequate.

Cracker Picnic But what started all this in the first place was a chicken and rice dinner Wednesday evening at North Fulton Park.

An offday for the Crackers is also about a half-holiday for other employees of the park. Consequently, Mr. Ovares was prevailed upon to lend his talents to the chicken and rice.

On hand enjoying the fruits of Paul's efforts were Jake Donaldson, Howard Hubbard, John Stanton and Hazen Cuyler, all members of the Cracker organization, and various associates, including Mr. Slick Sanford of one of the other radio stations and Mr. F. Mcfield Williams, our oversize and, after dinner, over-stuffed baseball writer.

The conversation, of course, finally got around to baseball and to the 1948 Crackers and there were some interesting observations, one in particular by Mr. Cuyler, the manager of the club. Somebody asked Cuyler how it felt to be booed by the fans, something which has become rather common at Ponce de Leon this season and was particularly rough in the Tuesday game with Nashville when Cuyler removed Gene Verble for Pinchhitter Ernie Logan.

Booing "Well," Ki grinned, "nobody naturally likes to be booed. If he did, he wouldn't be human, I guess, or else he would make a good wrestler. But like it or not, the man who pays the dough has a right to say what he wants and those of us playing or managing are paid to take it. At least, that's one of the extra-curricular duties of our job."

"But the funny thing to me," Cuyler continued, "is the fact that you get the loudest boos for doing the most logical things and then, when there's a real question, there may be no criticism whatsoever from the fans."

"Here," he continued, "let me cite you a couple of examples. Take that game the other day when Ralph Brown stole home against Memphis. There was one out and our fourth and fifth place hitters going to bat. Certainly there was no logical reason in the world for Brown to steal home. However, he took a couple of leads off the pitcher, Eisenman, and saw he was paying no attention and that he could steal home without any trouble. When I returned to the dugout, the fans gave me the biggest hand I have gotten all year."

"Now, take Tuesday night. We had the bases loaded on Nashville with two out and had just tied the score. It looked as if Twardy was staggering. So I batted Logan for Verble. He filed out and I got the boo. However, in my mind that was the most logical thing to do. We had a chance to win the game right there even if it was the early innings, and, boy, I've learned you don't get many chances to beat this Nashville club."

"I didn't weaken my defense any by the move as Fred Chapman was ready to go in at shortstop. In fact, Chappie got a couple of hits later in the game."

"Yes," somebody remarked, "if Logan had hit a home run, you would have been a hero."

"Guess that's right," Ki grinned, "hero one minute and bum the next. That's the life of a baseball manager."

Indiana Netmen Win Junior Title

SYLACAUGA, Ala., June 24—(AP)—Charles Devoe and Bill Bastion, Southern junior doubles champions from Indianapolis, Ind., today won the Cotton States junior doubles title.

The top-seeded Indiana pair outlasted Jim Kyle, Birmingham, and Alan Wickersham, Sylacauga, in a grueling match under a hot sun. The score was 6-8, 6-4, 7-5, 6-2. Kyle and Wickersham were ranked third.

Devoe and Steve Potts, Memphis, Tenn., the defending champions, advanced into the finals of the junior singles competition. They will play tomorrow for the title.

Louis-Walcott
Bout Postponed
For Second Time

By JACK HAND

YANKEE STADIUM, NE YORK, June 24—(AP)—The scheduled heavyweight title fight between Jersey Joe Walcott and Joe Louis was postponed tonight for the second time because of rain.

A downpour struck the Stadium shortly before preliminaries were scheduled to start. Water poured through the ringside area. At 7 o'clock no one was near the ring.

The weather forecast for tomorrow is for "late afternoon or evening thundershowers." The 20th Century Sporting Club, promoters of the bout, have the use of the stadium through Monday night.

Both fighters had arrived at the ball park.

Louis came about 6 p. m. and waited in an automobile outside the stadium.

"How they gonna have a fight," he asked as he watched the storm.

Walcott and his party arrived shortly before 7 p. m. and went immediately to the dressing rooms.

Only about 1,000 persons were in seats in the uncovered areas of the Stadium. Another 10,000 were huddled in the covered stands.

The streets outside the park were jammed with thoroughly soaked persons.

Some 10,000 unreserved seats had gone on sale at 4 o'clock. A crowd of 55,000 was expected.

Louis' home to the Stadium direct from his Pompton Lakes, N. J., training quarters. He had returned there yesterday when the first postponement was announced shortly after noon.

Walcott had remained in New York.

New York boxing rules require another weigh-in tomorrow because of the 48-hour postponement from the original date. However, if both managers agree, the weigh-in can be passed up with approval of the Boxing Commission.

Louis scaled 213½ pounds, heaviest of his career, when the two men weighed yesterday. Walcott checked in at 194½.

The champion took the second delay in stride.

"I don't think it will bother me any more than it does him," he declared. "It's fair for both of us."

Louis said he would return immediately to his New Jersey camp. He plans a light workout tomorrow morning before returning to the city.

He wore a raincoat and straw hat as he pushed gently through the crowd surrounding him outside the Stadium.

Only twice before has the champion had a fight postponed. His first bout with Max Schmeling was delayed and Joe was knocked out in the twelfth round. Neither man held the title at the time. His first fight after becoming champion, with Tommy Farr, was set back four days. Farr went the route with Louis.

Walcott said he planned to remain in New York City.

Felix Bocchicchio, his sponsor, said he didn't think the challenger would be affected by the delay.

OLYMPIC BID
AT LAGRANGE

LAGRANGE, June 24—Dent Richards, sensational 16-year-old Atlanta swimmer, will open her bid for a berth on the U. S. Olympic team today as the Southern Sectional Olympic trials and the Southern Peach swimming and diving events get under way here.

Dent, who is hailed by her coach, Ed Shea, as the greatest woman swimmer Georgia has produced, will compete in five events.

The two meets, sponsored by the LaGrange Lions and the Emory University Physical Education Department, are expected to attract a record number of talented performers.

Four of America's lesser-known women players were casualties, two of them falling before the pounding rackets of their countrywomen.

Louise Brough, of Beverly Hills, Cal., the U. S. champion, reached the fourth round by beating Mrs. Mary Arnold Prentiss, of Los Angeles, seventh-ranked American star, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, on the center court.

Doris Hart, of Miami, Fla., looked like a world beater in bashing Mrs. Helen Pedersen Ribhany, of Boston, 6-0, 6-1. This placed her in the third round.

Babe Zaharias Enters Semifinals of Western

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, June 24—(AP)—A dark horse and three former champions—headed by Babe Didrikson Zaharias—today climbed into the semifinals of the Women's Western Open golf tournament.

Mrs. Zaharias, entered from Grossingers Country Club, N. Y., was a 3-and-2 quarterfinal victor over highly regarded Polly Riley, of Fort Worth, Texas.

The Babe tomorrow meets Helen Dettweiler, of Indio, Cal., 1939 Open champion. She rallied for a one-up quarterfinal decision over Mary Agnes Wall, of Menominee, Michigan.

In the lower bracket, Patty Berg, 1941-43 champion from Minneapolis, won as expected from Claire Doran, of Lakewood, Ohio, 3 and 2.

Beverly Hanson, of Fargo, N. D., provided the day's only excitement. Tall and bespectacled, she walked away from Grace Lenczyk, of Newington, Conn., 1948 National Collegiate Women's champion, 9 and 7.

Miss Hanson, who faces Miss Berg tomorrow, sailed around the nine-hole turn seven holes in front. Miss Lenczyk, whose drive-

THE BALL WILL WAIT FOR YOU

You have all the time you want for planning your golf shot and making a slow, smooth back-swing. The ball is going to stay just where it is until you hit it. If you don't feel in a comfortable position when you're addressing the ball it will pay you to walk away, come back, and start all over again. Follow the good players' example in addressing the ball and getting comfortably started with their swing.

Crackers Snap Vol Jinx, 7-6

First Home Win Over Nashville

By F. M. WILLIAMS

The Crackers finally beat the Nashville Vols at Ponce de Leon Park.

Lefty Bill Kennedy and Shelby Kinney combined their pitching talents with a blend of timely Cracker hits and costly Nashville errors to chalk up a 7-6 decision before 3,653 fans last night.

It was the first victory at home over the Vols all season, the second time the league leaders have been rebuked in six outings and the third Ponce de Leon triumph in the last 13 games.

The Crackers built up a 7-0 lead for Kennedy through the first six innings and then helped him and Kinney almost kick it away.

The Vols had the tying run on second in the ninth when "Footsie" Grantham rifled a line drive to deep left field that Buster Maynard took in without moving more than two steps.

It was a good thing, too! Hit anywhere except right at a man the blow would have been for extra bases.

The Crackers got three runs off Ben Wade in the third inning, when they got their first hit off the tall right hander.

Chet Hajduk singled and was forced at second by Gene Verble. Kennedy hit to Wade and Verble was out by yards at second had Hal Quick held on to the ball when the Cracker cut him down with a fine slide.

As it was, Quick let go and the ball went into short center field while Verble scrambled to third.

Jack Hollis flied to center and Verble scored after the "atch" Buster Maynard and Ralph Brown followed with singles for one more run when Wade dropped a sac throw to first by Joe Damato who flied Tom Neill's roller after it had gotten past George Byam.

Wade to Charley Glock and Hajduk and a single by Verble brought in another run in the fourth and the Crackers got the winning tally during a three-run uprising in the sixth that sent Wade to the showers. Singles by Hajduk and Kennedy, a fielder's choice and an error, a walk and then two more singles by Brown and Neill produced the runs.

The Vols scored their first run in the fourth when Grantham beat out a hit to second only to be forced by Charley Workman. Roy Easterwood's grounder was fielded sensationally by Verble but the little shortstop made a bad throw to second and Workman moved to third. He scored as Cieslak forced Easterwood.

Grantham hit a homer in the sixth for another tally and then they got three more in the seventh on a walk to Quick, a double by Damato and Marino Mauro's homer over the signs.

A double play saved things in the eighth, although Kennedy was lifted after walking the first man and Kinney came in.

In the ninth, "Smoky" Burgess hit a pinch double after one was out, went to third on an error by Jack Hollis and scored as Mauro grounded out to first base.

The series ends tonight at 8:15 o'clock with Norman Brown scheduled to pitch for Atlanta and Dick Conger for the Vols. It will be ladies' night.

Pres. Earl Mann announced a blow-by-blow description of the Louisville-Walcott fight would be placed on the loud speaker at Friday night's game provided a majority of the fans desire to hear it.

Kennedy issued his first free pass of last night's game in the seventh inning, walking Quick. It was costly. The Vols went on to score three times.

Umpire Jim Tongate called Byam out at first in the eighth to complete a double play and get the Crackers out of a serious hole. The Vols complained bitterly over the decision and lots of those on hand agreed with them.

The Crackers loaded the bases in the eighth but couldn't push over a run.

Midwest Must Wait For Army-Navy Game

ANAPOLIS, Md., June 24—(AP) Rep. Sid Simpson, Republican, Illinois, and other Midwesterners who'd like to see an Army-Navy football game in their own backyard will have to wait a while.

The two service academies are under contract for another year with Philadelphia, Capt. E. B. Taylor, Navy Athletic Director, said today.

What will happen after that "is still under negotiation with the City of Philadelphia."

SAFE AT THIRD—Bill Wight, Chicago White Sox pitcher, slides into third as Johnny Pesky, Boston Red Sox third baseman, drops throw in yesterday's first game. Chicago won, 3-1.

Decatur Nine Wastes Early Lead, Loses

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Constitution Sports Writer

LAKELAND, Fla., June 24—Decatur Boys High belted J. C. Walker and his brother, Billy, two of the best high school pitchers in Florida, for seven runs in the first two innings here tonight and then came apart as the seams like a two-bit baseball as they bowed out of the third annual Southeastern Interstate Tournament, failing before Avon Park, 12-8.

Fifteen bases on balls by Homer Sims and Jim Umbricht, who took turns at replacing one another on the mound, four bad fielding miscues and six passed balls by Pete Johnston helped account for six Avon Park runs that gave the Floridians an 11-7 lead in the third.

Avon Park got their twelfth run in the sixth on two walks and Second Baseman Norman Stone's miff of an easy pop fly. Decatur came up with an eighth tally in the final stanza after two men were down as Umbricht tripled to right and came home on Sims' infield safety to short.

NORMAN BROWN'S EARDRUM BURSTS; MAY HURL ANYHOW

Norman Brown, the Crackers' leading hurler with 11 wins and four losses, suffered a burst eardrum while swimming Wednesday, it was revealed last night.

Brown will probably pitch the last game of the Nashville series tonight but he will be left at home when the club departs for New Orleans, President Earl Mann said.

He will be under a physician's observation until it is certain that there will be no infection. Brown is totally deaf in the ear now, but there is hope that the deafness will not continue permanently.

Miss Faulk In State Golf Final

BRUNSWICK, Ga., June 24—(P) Little Mary Lena Faulk, of Thomasville, defending champion, advanced to the finals of the Georgia Women's Golf championship here today by defeating Mrs. Mary Melnyk, of Brunswick, former champion and runner-up last year, one up. She will meet Mrs. Mary Rogers Brantley, of Blackshear, in the 36-hole final Friday.

The titleholder for two years took a lead early in the match with Mrs. Melnyk, winning holes Nos. 2, 3 and 4, and the two then played even golf for the remainder of the first nine, Miss Faulk being three up at the turn.

Mrs. Melnyk staged a rally on the back nine, winning two holes, and the two played the last three holes with Miss Faulk one up. On the eighteenth hole the champion missed a putt for a par four, but laid a stytle causing Mrs. Melnyk to miss a short putt, which would have tied the match.

Mrs. Brantley, former Florida champion, defeated Miss Eileen Stub, Augusta, one up in 19 holes.

Bobbitt Nips Floyd in City Net Tourny

Russell Bobbitt scored a three-set victory over Don Floyd in the headline match of yesterday's Men's Singles in the City Tennis tournament at the Northside Tennis Club.

Bobbitt won, 6-2, 2-6, 6-0, finishing off the tilt in easier fashion than expected after Floyd rallied to square matters by taking the second set.

Jack Teagle conquered Howard McCall, 6-0, 6-2, and joined Bobbitt in the semifinals. Jack will move up against the winner of today's match between Bryan Bitsy Grant and Frank Willett and McCall will face the winner of today's Johnny Anger-Joe Shippey duel. The semifinals are set Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Georgia Tech courts.

Ager defeated Vince Connerat, 6-4, 6-0, and Shippey eliminated Winfred Ager, 6-1, 6-4, in yesterday's matches.

Matches were played in all classes yesterday and the tournament will be brought down to the semifinals with today's results.

Lookouts Purchase Mike Ullisney

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 24—(P)—The purchase of Catcher Mike Ullisney from the Atlanta Crackers was announced today by President Joe Engel, of the Southern Association Chattanooga Lookouts.

Ullisney was with the Lookouts in 1947, and was purchased from the Boston Braves two years ago by Atlanta.

Westinghouse Head Sees Big Growth for Dixie

If there is an industry in America which, more than any single one, would record the economic pulse of America, it is the vast Westinghouse Electric Corporation, which manufactures and sells almost everything electrical—from generators to irons.

This Corporation's President, Gwilym A. Price, who is in Atlanta for a day or so, views the immediate economic future of America in a very optimistic light.

Price says he sees nothing but continuously good business ahead. He said he didn't know what effects the country's current inflationary cycle eventually will have upon the economy, but at the moment there is every indication that conditions are favorable for the boom to continue for some time.

In the industrial quarter—the manufacture of equipment for the utilities—Price says Westinghouse has a backlog fully equal to what it had last year and he sees a steady output for a number of years, possibly beyond 1952.

Research Group Visits Ky. Farm

Members of the Business Executives Research Committee, a group of young Atlanta businessmen interested in studying problems of mutual interest to agriculture and industry, will visit the Steel Way and Strodes Creek Stock Farm of Tom Girdler, Chairman of the Board of Republic Steel, today.

The farm is in the Blue Grass region of Kentucky. The young Atlantans will inspect the livestock and thoroughbred horses on the farm and study ways in which steel plays a part in farm work.

The following will make the trip: Cecil Adair, Ed DuBose, John H. Goff, Joe E. Girdler, George McClure, James M. Sibley, Gordon Stefkun, A. H. Sterne, T. T. Tucker and John A. Wray.

The Business Executives Research Committee is sponsored by Emory University.

Falling Wire Injures Couple

Two pedestrians were injured slightly late yesterday afternoon at Five Points when a heavy wire, with a large insulator on one end, fell and smashed into a show window of a Peachtree Street hat shop.

The accident, occurring a few moments after 5 p. m., caught downtown traffic at its heaviest, and the two injured persons, according to police, were trampled by the throngs rushing to the scene.

Injured were David R. Hook, 739 Boulevard, N. E., and Miss Bernice Belcher, of 255 Washington St., S. W. Both Hook and Miss Belcher were taken to Grady Hospital where they were treated for bruises and lacerations, then dismissed. They told police they were walking on Peachtree Street when the wire fell. They said the throng pushed them down and stepped on them.

Georgia Power Company officials said the wire was insulated and not charged.

Price, incidentally, thinks the Southeast, along with the Southwest and the West Coast, are the country's brightest economic frontiers, but he would not hazard a guess on just which one eventually would outdistance the other.

The Southeast, he says, looms far greater in Westinghouse's scheme of things than it did in pre-war years. He cited this section's influx of industries and the resurgence in the textile and chemical fields as indeed encouraging to its future growth.

Price said he sees evidence of a little slackening in the small appliance field (table appliances), but here again, business is good. In the industrial motor group, he describes business as "very good."

Stock Bull Push Fizzles As Oils Take Hard Beating

NEW YORK, June 24.—(AP)—A play for higher prices fizzled out in the stock market today. Oils took a beating but chances elsewhere were a fairly close mixture of small gains and losses. Trading got off to a fast start but progressively slowed until the final hour when there was a slight pickup in activity. Volume for the day totaled 1,560,000 shares, compared with 1,760,000 Wednesday.

Rails tried to pull the market ahead most of the day and for a time succeeded fairly well; toward the close, though, selling gained momentum and early gains in some cases were lost. Steels followed the same pattern, showing moderate strength for a while, then developing a wobbly streak.

The increase in selling late in the day, according to some quarters, was based on a rumor that negotiations between John L. Lewis and the soft coal miners had bogged down once more. The story, it was emphasized, was strictly a rumor. Profit-taking activity, it was added, played a prominent part in the market's performance.

Rails on Wednesday advanced to the highest average level since August 1946. Today's additional gains were evidently quick profit for traders who wanted to lock profit although at the final bell the majority were either unchanged or higher.

The long-popular oils took a heavy dose of profit-taking sales and prices declined an extreme of 4 points. Brokers noted that the long advance in this group was an open invitation to operators looking for an opportunity to pick up sizable profits.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined to 71.5. Of the 1,064 issues, 452 advanced and 361 declined.

In the curb declines of a point or more were scored by Cities Service, United States Machinery, Derby Oil and Venezuelan Petroleum. Standard Oil of New York advanced 1/2 point. Turnover of 450,000 shares compared with 500,000 yesterday.

Atlantic & Danville obligations again provided the fireworks in the bond market, although the advance was smaller than yesterday's sharp rise. The company, which has been under lease to the Southern Railway since 1899, announced it would assume independent operations next year. In the over-the-counter market, the long-term bonds of the U. S. Government issued around 4/32 of a point and slight improvement was noted in some other maturities. Federal bonds have been marked down rather severely in recent trading.

Nervousness over the mere rumor of a breakdown in coal negotiations emphasized anew the concern that Wall Street feels over the possibility of a coal stoppage. Higher optimistic reports earlier in the day doubled encouragement among security traders to get in the market on the buying side although at the same time a new and caution-producing factor appeared.

What price will the mine owners pay, and the miners accept, to bring peace to the soft coal fields, and what will be the effect ultimately on the economy as a whole?

That consideration may have influenced selling as much as the possibility of a walkout.

ASTHMA Views Dewey Choice As Slap at Congress

SUPPRESSORS FIND CURE FOR MISERY DUE TO ASTHMA ATTACKS. RUSHED HERE

New hope for relief from asthma, pneumonia is seen today in reports of success with a palliative formula which acts to relieve congestion. Men and women who formerly suffered with chronic coughing, choking, wheezing asthma attacks now tell of blessed relief after using it. PROMETHIN costs $1, but considering results, this is not expensive, amounts to only a few pennies per dose.

(Caution—use only as directed.) PROMETHIN is sold with strict money-back guarantee by Road's Drug Store, 119 Alabama St., S. W., 123 Edgewood Ave.—Mail Orders Filled.

Views Dewey Choice As Slap at Congress

NARRAGANSETT, R. I., June 24—(AP)—Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath said tonight the Republican Convention, by its nomination of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, has "repudiated" Sen. Robert A. Taft and the record of the Republican party which he achieved in the 80th Congress.

"By denying the legislative record of Sen. Taft," the Senator said in a statement at his Summer home here, "the GOP has shown that it appreciates the enormity of the failure of the 80th Congress."

"Now it will be necessary," Sen. McGrath continued, "for Gov. Dewey to explain away all that the Congress did or failed to do under Sen. Taft's leadership."

TAFT After the Dewey Blitz

HALLECK, BRICKER ...

Six Names Heard for 2d Place

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 24—(AP)—Republican leaders tonight began guessing and suggesting Vice Presidential running mates for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Word came from Dewey headquarters that the field is wide open. But usually the Republican Presidential nominee has much to say about the No. 2 place on the ticket.

Immediate speculation centered around these men:

House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck who swung Indiana's delegates onto the Dewey bandwagon early in the voting and held them there.

Sen. John W. Bricker, who was Dewey's running mate in 1944. The former Ohio Governor, who now is in the Senate, probably would accept an offer.

Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota, even though his managers say he does not want the job and will not take it.

Gov. Earl Warren, of California, who helped clinch the Dewey nomination by releasing his solid 53 votes and urging them to vote for Dewey. Friends of Warren say he is a Vice Presidential candidate.

Gov. Dwight Green, of Illinois, who played a prominent role supporting Sen. Taft for the Presidential nomination and was temporary chairman of this convention after keying it.

Sen. Wherry, of Nebraska, who has been acting as GOP leader in the Senate and is reported willing to take the post.

Nomination of the Vice President was left until Friday with delegates assembling at 9:30 a. m. EST.

Formal speeches, including seconding talks, are on the schedule. But overnight discussions with the Vice Presidential possibilities may save the delegates much time.

With Dewey from the Eastern Seaboard, usual political strategy would give the No. 2 place to someone from the Western half of the country.

WHEN I GET OUT ...

Boy Killer Hurls Threat At Judge

NEW YORK, June 24—(UP)—"I didn't commit this crime. But when I get out I will commit a crime."

Fifteen-year-old Wilbert Nickless shouted those words at Judge Carmine J. Marasco in a Brooklyn court today. The Judge had just sentenced Nickless to 25 years to life imprisonment in Sing Sing for shooting and killing another youth after an argument over a juke box song.

Judge Marasco sat silently watching the boy as a bailiff pulled him out of the courtroom. The Judge shook his head and called the next case.

way when a silver-haired Sen. Bricker, of Ohio, took the platform immediately following the opening formalities of tonight's climactic session.

He read a message from Sen. Taft, which said, it was useless to continue the battle against Gov. Dewey. Sen. Taft placed his support to the New Yorker and urged his delegates to follow the trend.

Sen. Bricker was followed in quick succession by Sen. Knowland, of California, who announced that Gov. Earl Warren had released his delegates, and by Minnesota's former Gov. Harold Stassen, whose appearance touched off the most spontaneous cheering of the Convention.

Stassen, when the crowd had finally been quieted, declared: "With your permission, I should like to second the nomination of the Hon. Thomas E. Dewey and recommend that he be the unanimous nominee of this Convention."

Stassen then went on to pledge his "active efforts" toward the election, not only of Dewey, but also of Republican candidates for all levels.

Stassen got the biggest cheer of the Convention when he added: "I pledge to carry on within the Republican Party the effort to enact a liberal program for the young and progressive forces in the Nation."

Following Stassen in quick succession came Gov. Sigler, of Michigan, to renounce Vandenberg's candidacy, and Sen. Baldwin, of Connecticut, who asked the roll call be dispensed with and the nomination be accorded Dewey by a rising vote.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr. ruled this motion out of order and the formality of the third roll-call got underway.

When Georgia's turn came, Harry Sommers was away from the delegation seats, and Georgia's vote was announced by John Wesley Dobbs, Atlanta Negro, who said:

"Mister Chairman, Georgia, the Empire State of the South, casts its 16 votes for Thomas E. Dewey, the Governor of the Empire State of the North."

If the swiftness and unanimity with which the fight for the nomination ended came as a surprise to the average delegate, it was apparently anticipated by Dewey.

Herbert E. Brownell, a Dewey campaign manager, was beaming all over the platform.

Dewey first learned of his victory at his downtown hotel headquarters.

"I am humbly grateful for the confidence of the elected representatives of my Party, and hope God gives me strength to merit it," he said.

Sweating delegates packed into the big convention chamber howled their approval on the man they feel dead certain will bring them victory in November this time.

"No, no," die-hard Stassen supporters bellowed through the hall when the popular former Governor of Minnesota dropped his fight and promised all-out aid to Dewey.

The real test seemed to come immediately following the second ballot, which officially gave Dewey 515 votes—just 33 short of the necessary 548. Official vote at the end of the second ballot also gave Sen. Taft, 274; Harold Stassen, 149; Sen. Vandenberg, 62; Gov. Earl Warren, California, 57.

The trend to Dewey became apparent early on the second ballot when the New York Governor picked up one vote in Alabama, another in Delaware, 10 in Iowa, two in Kansas, one in Kentucky, and five in Maryland.

The Georgia delegation held steady on the second ballot, casting 12 for Dewey, one for Stassen, one for Warren and two for Speaker Martin, as on the first. Sommers, Atlanta, National Committeeman for Georgia, announced the Georgia vote.

Following the second roll call, Georgia asked to be recognized to "correct an error in its vote." This time there were 13 votes for Dewey, one for Stassen, one for Warren and only one for Martin, instead of the two previously announced.

Wilson Williams, of Columbus, current National Committeeman, was present at the convention for the first time, having flown up for the day. Wilson, long a Dewey supporter, was exuberant over the New York Governor's victory.

All told, Dewey picked up 81 votes on the second ballot. Stassen dropped eight, his second ballot total being 149 in contrast to 157 on the initial tally. Taft added 50 votes to his first ballot total of 224. Vandenberg had 62 on both ballots. Warren held his own at 57. Taft climbed to 274 on the second ballot.

ond, thanks entirely to the support Illinois promised and gave him. Illinois dropped 50 of its 56 votes in Taft's lap after paying its respects to Gov. Green on the first.

Out on the floor of the streaming auditorium, delegates fumed and squirmed and sweated. They actually and figuratively were in spotlights they couldn't escape; spotlights searing and beating at them from the lofty reaches of the vast hall.

Delegations frantically counted noses. Several insisted that each member be polled individually. Coats off, ties askew, shirts soaked with sweat, male delegates kept up a steady run of conferring in big and little huddles. The women beat the air with paper fans.

Backers of this, that or the other candidate kept after them to come on over. Some wavered, some went, some refused.

SALLY FORTH Says:

Muttie and Bill Ebersole Return Here For Residence

It's a long road that has no turning. Now, to the delight of their family and friends, Muttie and Bill Ebersole have returned to Atlanta for residence from Memphis, and today they are moving into their new home on Pace's Ferry Road.

And what a fortunate couple they are to have found such an attractive house to live in! It is one-story, built of dark green clapboards and surrounded by a garden full of colorful flowers. It was built by Mrs. Donald McClain on her Pace's Ferry Road property as temporary living quarters until the "big house" was complete. But circumstances prevented the furtherance of these plans and Mrs. McClain has remained on Cherokee Road.

So, the house on Pace's Ferry which boasts a spacious living room and dining room combination, kitchen, bath and two bedrooms, and a glorious screened porch across the entire front, was rented to a Tech student and his wife. But when college was out, they vacated. Then it was that Mrs. McClain, who is one of Alice (Countess Bernard) de Sieyes' best friends, heard that Muttie and Bill, who were married in April, were being transferred to Atlanta, so she immediately offered the house to them and they jumped at the opportunity.

Muttie and Bill have been visiting the latter's parents, Charlotte and Huck Ebersole, on Peachtree Memorial Drive.

Trip To Mark Wedding Anniversary

When Mr. and Mrs. Hill P. Redwine, of Fayetteville, leave by plane for New York today, the trip will be in celebration of their wedding anniversary, for they were married 35 years ago today.

From New York the Redwines will go to Montreal, Canada, from where they will embark on a cruise on the St. Lawrence and Saginaw Rivers. After a visit to Quebec, they will go to Halifax, Nova Scotia.

On their return trip home, they plan to sail from Yarmouth to Boston, where they will take the train.

Something New at Pollard Home

That attractive couple, Marjorie and Jim Pollard, who came to Atlanta from Birmingham and are residing on Piedmont Road, have added something definitely new to their household. The something new is about the cutest eight-month-old baby girl one can imagine, and her name is Cynthia Brooks. Her eyes are sapphire blue and her hair is light brown. The Pollards' son Timothy, who is five, is equally as handsome with deep blue eyes and dark hair.

Marjorie is a native of Houston, Texas, and her husband, who hails from Denver, is Treasurer of Colonial Stores. The Pollards were by no means strangers when they moved to Atlanta, for Jim's relatives, the R. L. Trumans, gave them a royal welcome.

Though Jim is indeed a busy man, he takes time out for photography, particularly color work, which he adores. Marjorie's chief diversions are collecting antiques, gardening and occupational therapy. She devotes each Friday to work with the Gray Ladies at Lawson General Hospital. In the meantime, she has never a dull moment, tending two children and keeping house.

Passing Parade

Glimpsed at the Capital City Club . . . Joanne Lang offsetting her blonde beauty with a black frock . . . Mr. and Mrs. Bill Black dancing together, the latter becomingly groomed in black . . . Anne (Mrs. Calvin) Allen chatting with Frances (Mrs. Clark, Jr.) Howell, the former looking lovely in brown, and the latter wearing an attractive pink frock . . . Mary Bruce Bohn, in a white suit, chatting with Helen Hopkins, who was attired in a white blouse and a midnight blue skirt . . . Jackie Lowe attractively costumed in a brown print.

Mr. and Mrs. Cody To Be Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. Inman Brandon will entertain at a swimming party and alfresco supper at their home on Arden Road on July 3, feting Mr. and Mrs. Louie Cody, whose marriage took place recently. Mrs. Cody is the former Miss Lucy Marion. A small group of friends of the hosts and honor guests has been invited.

Swimming Party At Bear Tree Farm

Miss Judy Pittard, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Pittard, Jr., will entertain at the Pittard country place, Bear Tree Farm, on Saturday afternoon at a swimming party and weiner roast. The guest of honor will be Richard Horn, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Horn, of Bessemer, Ala., who is visiting his sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Stevens, of Atlanta.

Miss Humphrey Weds on Parents' 25th Anniversary

Miss Georgia Vivian Humphrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Humphrey, became the bride of Thomas Frederick Guffin, Jr., son of Mrs. T. F. Guffin, of East Point, and the late Dr. Guffin, last evening, the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of the bride's parents. The ceremony took place in the Peachtree Christian Church. The Rev. Thomas M. Johnston officiated, with Rev. Robert W. Burns as assistant.

Arthur B. Kent was best man and usher-groomsman were Donald W. Kern, Keith H. Damon and Tim M. Humphrey, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Edwin Rhode, Jr., of Kissimmee, Fla., was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Misses Anne Ittner, Lois Holbrook and Miss Mary Sue Pafford, of Daytona Beach. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in yellow tulle, made with net yokes and bustles. The matron of honor wore a similar dress of blue. They carried baskets of Spring flowers. Miss Sheila Anne Benson was flower girl. She wore a dress of blue like the bridesmaids' dresses and carried a miniature basket of flowers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of ivory satin was fashioned with a net yoke and a bustle. Her illusion veil was attached to a tiara of fresh orange blossoms. She carried a prayerbook covered with orchids and lilies of the valley.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brown, of Hollywood, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Benson, Jacksonville.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for a honeymoon to Lake Louise, Canada.

News on the Fraternity Front

By BETSY HOPKINS

Rushing is at its height on the Emory campus this weekend. Parties are planned by most of the fraternities; rushes are being entertained at luncheon and informal gatherings between classes, and there is an air of tense excitement that always accompanies the last few days before pledging.

North Fulton Park will be the scene Saturday night of some big doings for the Delta Tau Delta's. The boys and their dates will don blue jeans for a picnic and swimming party, to be followed by an old-fashioned square dance at Ridley's farm.

The Phi Delta Theta's will honor their rushes at a house dance tonight. The boys will present skits, and Fred Stanton and his bride will preside over the festivities.

The Sigma Chi's will attempt to "beat the heat" at a swimming party Saturday night for their rushes. The boys will meet at the Venetian Club at 7 o'clock where they will swim, eat and dance.

Once a month the Sigma Nu's and their dates meet at the fraternity house on Sunday and go en masse to church. This Sunday they will attend the Truist Hills Methodist Church together, and afterwards there will be a buffet luncheon at the frat house.

Spotlighted on the high school fraternity front this weekend is the houseparty planned by the D. P. S.'s to honor their sponsor, Ann Coggins. The boys and their dates will stay at the Lake Rabun Hotel in Lakemont. Many a gay event has been planned, including a trip to Vogel State Park, a barn dance and wiener roast on the shore of Lake Rabun Saturday night. The houseparty will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Giboney and Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Bondurant.

Mrs. Campbell to Address Legion Auxiliary Dinner

Mrs. E. A. Campbell, of Louisiana, National Girls' State Chairman, will be guest speaker at the district dinner to be held this evening at 7 o'clock at Legion Post No. 1 clubhouse, as a feature of the convention program of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Campbell will substitute for Mrs. J. B. Kirkpatrick, who was detained in Florida by illness. Mrs. C. T. Hovis is taking reservations for the dinner.

Out-of-town officers here for the Convention, who are headed by the State President, Mrs. C. L. Edmunds, of Augusta, include Mrs. P. M. Wise, Windsor; Mrs. Guy O. Stone, Glenwood; Mrs. P. I. Dixon, Americus; Mrs. John Williams, Valdosta; Mrs. E. J. Ennis, Brunswick; Mrs. Herbert Moon, Americus; Mrs. Margaret Harvard, Unadilla, and Mrs. W. B. O'Quinn, Jesup. A pair of prominent visitors present are Mrs. Jessie Gills and Miss Jewel Adair, of Lynchburg, Va.

The convention opened yesterday with a Gold Star tea at the Department Headquarters, with Mrs. Belle Miller of the Decatur Unit as Chairman. The Auxiliary will hold open house at Department Headquarters today from 4 to 6 p. m. Mrs. Lloyd P. Moon is Convention Chairman.

Miss Johnson Weds at Chapel

Miss Nita Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Marcus Bennett Johnston, became the bride of Malcolm James Gesner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney R. Gesner, at a recent ceremony at Glenn Memorial Chapel. Dr. Louie D. Newton officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Eli E. Pound, was groomed in white slipper satin trimmed with French lace. She wore a white orchid with a chataine of tuberoses and valley lilies.

Miss Betty Gesner, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Anderson, of Birmingham, and Miss Katherine Moore, of Decatur. They were groomed alike in pale green marquisette and matching taffeta. They carried French bouquets with lavender net and chataines.

Allen B. Gesner, brother of the groom, was best man, and usher-groomsman were Sam Dalhouse and Mike Harris.

The bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Pound, entertained at a reception at the Druid Hills Golf Club. The couple left for a wedding trip to Jekyll Island. They will reside in Kingsport, Tenn.

Miss Toby Lewis To Wed Sept. 9

Mr. and Mrs. Saul J. Lewis, of Atlanta, formerly of Washington and New York, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Toby Muriel Lewis, to Benjamin D. Loewinson.

The bride-elect attended National Art School and Columbia Institute of Technology in Washington, D. C., and Federal Art School in Minneapolis. She is a member of Pi Kappa Nu sorority.

At present she is employed as engineering draftsman at the State Highway Department.

During the war Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Loewinson, He is senior at the Georgia Institute of Technology, Department of Architecture.

He is a member of A. E. Pi fraternity. During the war Mr. Loewinson served four years in the Army, two and a half years of which were spent in the Air Corps in the European theater.

The marriage will take place Sept. 9 at the Progressive Club.

A Weekly Sponsored Column of Things Advertised and Interesting

NEW YORK, June 25—As everybody knows, a healthful, "energizing" breakfast is just as important in summer as it is in winter. In fact, the hotter the weather the more important is a good, nourishing morning meal. That's why I urge you to serve "Cream of Wheat" regularly all year 'round... for it provides the family with lots of food-energy, plus extra iron, calcium, phosphorus and Vitamin B₁. Enriched 5-Minute "Cream of Wheat" cooks to full digestibility in only 5 minutes of boiling. Best of all, cost is so little... less than 1¢ per delicious bowlful! So ask your Grocer today for "Cream of Wheat"—the year-around breakfast everybody loves—every morning!

"JUNE IS BUSTING OUT all over" ... and not only in the song, for June's black raspberries are "busting out," too! So why not try Black Raspberry Ice Cream for dessert tonight? Here's the quick, easy, delicious way to make it... with TEN-BLOW, the new "concentrated ice cream in a can":

1. Add 1 cup water and mix thoroughly.
2. Freeze in coldest tray of refrigerator.
3. Whip: add 1 cup chilled, crushed (puree if preferred), sweetened black raspberries and 1½ to 2 Tsp. vanilla. Freeze to desired consistency.

This is a grand party dessert, too... one your guests are sure to "oh" and "ah" about! That's because TEN-BLOW contains real old-fashioned, home-made ice cream ingredients... heavier-than-whipping cream, milk, eggs and sugar! But Black Raspberry Ice Cream is just one of many warm weather taste teasers you can have with TEN-BLOW! For other delicious "variations on a good theme," send today for the new TEN-BLOW recipe folder. It's FREE... so just address Nancy Sasser, Dept. 624-A, 271 Madison Ave., New York 16.

SOMETHING HOT that hits the spot is important in any season! And here's one summertime dish I recommend highly... Chicken Sub Kung Soup! It's as pleasing to the eye as it is to the taste, with extra LACHOY Mixed Vegetables floating in a delicious broth. Here's how to make it:

Add LACHOY Mixed Vegetables to 6 cups boiling chicken broth or bouillon and cook 5 min. Pour into small "bowls," stirring slowly until eggs form small "flowers." Season to taste with LACHOY Sauce and pepper. Yield: 8 portions. This is just one example of the unusual dishes LACHOY Mixed Vegetables can help you to make. Try it in your salads, too! And try LACHOY Chinese Dinner... a one-package dinner containing Meatless Chop Suey, Chow Mein Noodles and LACHOY Sauce!

"PARTY TIME" rolls 'round with unusual regularity, come these lovely warm days... and my nomination for the peak of refreshment is long, frosty glasses of FLORIDA CANNED ORANGE JUICE! It's delicious... the captured sweetness and flavor of juice from Florida's famous tree-ripened oranges... rich, too, in Vitamin C and energy from Nature's fruit sugars. Wonderful for stimulating lacy appetites. For a real party touch, try this Orange Cooler:

Fill a tall glass to the half-way mark with FLORIDA CANNED ORANGE JUICE. Add ice to chill and fill glass with carbonated water. Decorate with a ripe cherry and a sprig of mint.

FEEL LIKE A NEW WOMAN every time you step out of a bath? You ought to... and you will, if you use SWAN! That's because its new, exclusive Super-Creamed Blend makes it extra smooth... extra mild... and extra thorough in cleansing action, too! But don't take my word for it... give SWAN a try yourself. You'll feel a difference in the bar itself... feel it in SWAN's more abundant lather... see it in the glow of freshness it gives your skin! Thompson Will Shun Convention at Macon Stating that the apparent purpose of the State Democratic Convention at Macon July 2 is to get a crowd to hear "factional political speeches," Acting Gov. Thompson said yesterday he would not attend the session.

The Talmadge-controlled convention will feature speeches by Herman Talmadge, regarded as a gubernatorial candidate, and Marvin Griffin, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor.

"Some time ago they announced there would be a convention for the purpose of fixing rules for the primary and naming delegates to the Democratic National Convention," Thompson said. "Then they got jittery and called the Executive Committee into session to do this. Because of this, I thought the Convention was off and I have made other plans for July 2 which cannot be changed now. They haven't told the public the purpose of the Convention. I suppose it is to get a crowd to hear factional political speeches in the interest of doing something in the interest of the Democratic Party."

Thompson announced that Mrs. Clifford Ragsdale, of Atlanta, has been named head of the women's division of his gubernatorial campaign. She has established headquarters in the Ansley Hotel and has begun setting up district and county organizations.

The Acting Governor called upon all Georgians to register to vote before the deadline July 1. Persons who do not think enough of their citizenship to cast a ballot should not criticize local, state, or national governments, he commented. Thompson predicted that more than one million Georgians will vote this year.

Atkinson's Hat Again in Ring

Associate Justice William Y. Atkinson has qualified as a candidate for renomination as a member of the State Supreme Court. He paid his entry fee to Joe Boone, of Irwinton, Secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Others qualifying for offices include:

C. S. Baldwin, Jr., of Milledgeville, to succeed himself as Solicitor of the Ocmulgee Circuit; Fred T. Lanier, of Statesboro, to succeed himself as Solicitor of Ogeechee Circuit; John T. Ferguson, of Tifton, for Solicitor of the Tifton Circuit; J. B. Edwards, of Thomasville, to succeed himself as Solicitor of Southern Circuit; Homer W. Nelson, of Adel, for Judge of Alabama Circuit; E. L. Forrester, of Leesburg, for renomination as Solicitor General of Southwestern Circuit; T. Hicks Fort, of Columbus, for renomination as Judge of Chattahoochee Circuit; and W. M. Harper, of Americus, for renomination as Judge of Southwestern Circuit.

'Will Not Run,' Roy Harris Says Of Draft Talk

Constitution State News Service.

AUGUSTA, June 24—Roy Harris, former Speaker in the Georgia House of Representatives, declared today he would not be a candidate for the Legislature "even if drafted."

Harris, long-time leader in the Richmond County Cracker Party, issued that statement in answer to reports that the Party might try to draft him if he didn't run.

Harris said his decision was made in "the interest of political peace." "I have served in office for 24 years and I think that is long enough," he added.

Richmond County has three representatives in the Legislature.

TECHWOOD EXTENSION

Public works officials announced yesterday work has begun on the extension of Techwood Drive from Bartow to Walton Streets. Under the plan a 46-foot roadway will be established, and eventually the extension will be continued into Marietta Street. The area is one of Atlanta's most serious traffic bottlenecks but completion of the improvement is expected to give considerable relief.

TAX MEET CANCELED—Councilman John A. White, Chairman of Council's Tax Committee, announced yesterday the regular meeting of the Committee slated for Monday has been canceled. The reason? No business.

GRAYDONS ON TOUR—Staford W. Graydon, engineer of the City Health Department, will leave today with his family for an automobile tour of the West. Mrs. Graydon, daughter, Miss Ann Graydon, and her friend, Miss Mary Frances Busbee will be in the party. The trip includes many points of interest between Atlanta and Los Angeles.

GRAYS CELEBRATE—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gray yesterday celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary. Gray is manager of the Municipal Airport, a post he has held for about 20 years.

MAYOR'S DAY—Mayor Hartsfield yesterday conferred with Garland Steel, City Engineer, about details of starting work on the Techwood Drive extension into Walton Street; with Jack Gray about starting runway improvements at the Municipal Airport, and with Dr. Thomas Reed, Government expert, on City-Fulton County problems. Dr. Reed was accompanied to Hartsfield's office by William E. Mitchell, and the Aldermanic Board, and Chairman of the Metropolitan Atlanta Traffic Commission. Last night, Hartsfield attended a dinner honoring G. A. Price, President of Westinghouse Manufacturing Company. He also finished approving all papers sent to his desk from Monday's meeting of Council and receipts.

Children's Party Fun If Planned Properly

Parties for children can be fun, if they are planned right. And there's no need in paying for that fun by having to sit up with Junior the night after because he ate those rich cookies never found on a pediatrician's feeding chart.

There are many ways of serving wholesome food in festive style. Junior and Sis can have as many helpings as they like and be none the worse for the party. And if Pup gets a sample taste, there might not be enough left to serve all the young fry.

APRICOT BANANA ICE CREAM
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup (two 4 1/2 oz. cans) apricots with farina
1 ripe banana, mashed
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
Combine sugar, apricots with farina and mashed banana, which should be very ripe. Mix well. Fold in whipped cream. Freeze and serve. Serves 4.

FROZEN SUCKERS
2 cups (four 4 1/2 oz. cans) strained fruit
1 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons sugar
Mix ingredients well and partially freeze in ice cube tray, using cube divider. When partially frozen, insert wooden or paper spoons* in upright position. Continue freezing. Makes 1 tray of 14 cubes, 1 1/2 inches square.

Hotel Claims 'Taint So'

By DORIS LOCKERMAN,
Woman's News Editor.

The Waldorf-Astoria says it did not sell a cake recipe for $100, despite the "wide circulation" that has been given the fable. The story was, says Ted Saucier, of that hostelry, in mild indignation, "evidently originated by some vicious or demented person, who hoped to cause embarrassment to the hotel."

The Waldorf is right about the legend being given wide circulation. At least 20 people phoned to advise that a lady from LaGrange, a lady in Atlanta, a lady in Rome, all claimed they bought a cake recipe from the Waldorf-Astoria for $100, but they claimed it anonymously, and we suspect they are boasting.

But we disagree with Mr. Saucier that it is causing embarrassment to his fine hotel. Hundreds of people all over America are doubtlessly eating W. A. Cake right now, smug in the vicarious misunderstanding that they are munching a formula so treasured it was valued at $100 by some epicure.

I hasten to withdraw my report of the story, but it is too late to withdraw the recipe. It is, to coin a cliché, going like hot cakes among my readers. Excuse me, please, while I eat a few more bites of my Waldorf cake sent me this morning from Mrs. Sam E. Levy, 1116 Los Angeles Ave., N. E.

And, frankly, Mr. Saucier, the Waldorf-Astoria should pay Mrs. Levy $100 to use its name on the cake she turns out from the recipe in question.

Self-Introduction
An old gentleman with a weak voice and the air of a courtier made this request:
"Tell young folks," he begged, "to introduce themselves when they come up to old-timers like me to chat. We love their attention, but they grow so fast and change so much we're pretty apt to forget who they are from year to year. Makes us look dumb, or worse... maybe impolite!"

It's a good idea. It will give your old friend a chance to remark gallantly that he'd have recognized you anywhere, you look so much like your pappy when he was a boy.

And you'll never know that he hasn't the faintest recollection who your father was, in the first place.

TOO HOT TO THINK?

Here's Sunday Dinner Planned For You

Too hot to plan a menu, let alone cook it? Try this for Sunday and you get so fascinated with the outcome you'll forget to glance at the thermometer. Incidentally, it was planned to take advantage of seasonal foods, at the nearest thing to bargain prices you'll be finding these expensive days:

SUNDAY DINNER

Chilled Fruit Juice Cocktail
Brown Fricassee of Chicken
Sweet Potato Puff
Green Peas
Jellied Ring Cherry Salad
Mint Roll, Hot Fudge Sauce

Tenderize a young chicken by simmering in fat and a little water, seasoned with onion, salt and pepper, an hour or more. Remove it to casserole, mix two tablespoons flour with two tablespoons cold water and stir to a smooth paste. Add to chicken stock which has been reduced to 1 1/2 cups. Cook and stir until thickened. Season, if necessary.

Pour over chicken and garnish with mushrooms and onions. SWEET POTATOES make a puff when you use 3 cups mashed yams, mix with salt, 4 tablespoons hot milk, and one beaten egg. Pile into greased baking dish; top with marshmallows. Bake in a moderate oven 15 minutes. Serves 6.

THE MINT ROLL is made by cutting sponge cake in thick slices, then trimming in rounds with a biscuit cutter. Beat 3 egg whites until frothy. Add 6 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition. Add almond flavoring to taste, enough green coloring to tint delicately. Pile hard ice cream on sponge cake and cover with meringue. Serve at once with hot fudge sauce, made by melting a package of chocolate chips over boiling water, and 1/4 cup cream.

Try Grape Juice For Cooling Drink

Warm weather calls for refreshments light, cooling and easily prepared. When guests drop in, when you're host to the local small fry, or when young sophisticates take over the house, there is one sure treat you can easily prepare for them.

Grape juice is economical—a quart bottle will serve between 10 and 12 people when each glass is filled half and half with grape juice and water. This means that the cost per glass is less than five cents. Keep a bottle in the ice box—one bottle does not clutter up your over-loaded refrigerator and gives you many servings.

Pour boiling water over tea leaves, cover closely and allow to stand 5 minutes; strain. Add lemon juice, Welch's Grape Juice and sugar, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Chill thoroughly. Pour into tall glasses over ice. Makes 6 servings.

Dior Designs Very Popular With Latins

By "CC" PROCTOR

SAO PAULO, Brazil, June 24 Christian Dior is obviously the coutouriers' Kilroy in South America. And since his New Look has been so widely accepted by our other hemispheric half, Paris has completely regained its prewar fashion markets in the Latin countries.

Of course, Peruvian women have resisted the New Look because they just aren't built for it. And in Argentina the New Look has been modified to a certain extent.

But in Chile, Uruguay, Brazil and the other countries, Dior is the oracle of high fashion.

In Brazil the New Look is less than a year old because of the reversed seasons. The most extreme lines of the new fashion are at their peak of popularity just now. Nevertheless, the women in Rio and Sao Paulo have adopted the half-mast hemline, sloping shoulders and full swirling skirts regardless of how impracticable it might be.

Brazilians—both men and women—are vain to the extent that they want to be fashionable at all times and they are willing to spend money on their clothes. Their clothes consciousness is caused by the variety of climatic conditions, inferior cleaning facilities and the rapid deterioration of clothing in Brazil. Consequently they need a great many changes of clothing all year 'round.

The bustling city of Sao Paulo is more informal than exotic Rio. Despite the fact that there are more than 2,000,000 people living in this industrial capital, there are very few night clubs and most of the Paulistas do their entertaining informally in their homes or at their clubs. Consequently, formal dress is

Baked Fish Gives Body To Hot-Weather Meal

Summer-time appetites respond enthusiastically to a helping of fish, cooked delicately and served with a crisp tossed vegetable salad, hard rolls and iced tea.

To stretch that dollar to the limit, as any housewife must do today, why not buy a whole fish, stuff and bake it, thus making sure that there will be an extra serving for the children when they come in from the afternoon's swim.

Don't be afraid to tackle the job of stuffing a fish. All you have to do is order a "dressed fish" from the market, wash and wipe thoroughly, sprinkle inside and out with salt, and stuff loosely with your favorite dressing. Then close with skewers or needle and thread, brush with melted fat, and there it is, ready for the oven.

A stuffed fish weighing three to four pounds should be baked for 15 minutes in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.), reducing heat to 400 degrees F. as it browns and baking for about 45 minutes longer. Serve with egg sauce and lemon wedges.

Recipes for stuffing and sauce follow:

BREAD STUFFING

1½ cups bread cubes
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon thyme or marjoram
1½ medium-sized onion, minced
3 tablespoons butter, melted
Mix bread cubes, seasoning, and onion; add butter slowly, tossing lightly with a fork until blended.

EGG SAUCE

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups scalded milk
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 hard-cooked eggs
Melt butter, add flour and blend well. Pour over the scalded milk and cook until thick. Season. Cut the hard-cooked eggs in small pieces and add.

Prepare Now To Can For Winter

For all of us, these days, it's a matter of real economy to can surplus foods. It means many dollars saved from the food budget. Plan to do more home canning this year—set up a generous canning budget.

During the next few weeks, fruits and vegetables will be in plentiful supply. You can choose them at their flavor peak and at lower prices too. Now is the time to check your supply of jars, to buy plenty of fresh new lids, and have your canning equipment in good condition for action.

A nationally known jar and lid company now offers a new "Self Sealing" brand of jar, caps and lids. The canning jars, in all sizes from half-pints through the larger sizes, are available in grocery stores.

A simple test gives you instant proof of an air-tight seal. You just tap lid when jar has cooled—a clear "ring" tells you it's a perfect seal! Without guessing—you know. This dependable test is used for all methods of canning.

Dior Designs Very Popular With Latins

By "CC" PROCTOR

SAO PAULO, Brazil, June 24 Christian Dior is obviously the coutouriers' Kilroy in South America. And since his New Look has been so widely accepted by our other hemispheric half, Paris has completely regained its prewar fashion markets in the Latin countries.

Of course, Peruvian women have resisted the New Look because they just aren't built for it. And in Argentina the New Look has been modified to a certain extent.

But in Chile, Uruguay, Brazil and the other countries, Dior is the oracle of high fashion.

In Brazil the New Look is less than a year old because of the reversed seasons. The most extreme lines of the new fashion are at their peak of popularity just now. Nevertheless, the women in Rio and Sao Paulo have adopted the half-mast hemline, sloping shoulders and full swirling skirts regardless of how impracticable it might be.

Brazilians—both men and women—are vain to the extent that they want to be fashionable at all times and they are willing to spend money on their clothes. Their clothes consciousness is caused by the variety of climatic conditions, inferior cleaning facilities and the rapid deterioration of clothing in Brazil. Consequently they need a great many changes of clothing all year 'round.

The bustling city of Sao Paulo is more informal than exotic Rio. Despite the fact that there are more than 2,000,000 people living in this industrial capital, there are very few night clubs and most of the Paulistas do their entertaining informally in their homes or at their clubs. Consequently, formal dress is

Summer-time appetites respond enthusiastically to a helping of fish, cooked delicately and served with a crisp tossed vegetable salad, hard rolls and iced tea.

To stretch that dollar to the limit, as any housewife must do today, why not buy a whole fish, stuff and bake it, thus making sure that there will be an extra serving for the children when they come in from the afternoon's swim.

Don't be afraid to tackle the job of stuffing a fish. All you have to do is order a "dressed fish" from the market, wash and wipe thoroughly, sprinkle inside and out with salt, and stuff loosely with your favorite dressing. Then close with skewers or needle and thread, brush with melted fat, and there it is, ready for the oven.

A stuffed fish weighing three to four pounds should be baked for 15 minutes in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.), reducing heat to 400 degrees F. as it browns and baking for about 45 minutes longer. Serve with egg sauce and lemon wedges.

Recipes for stuffing and sauce follow:

BREAD STUFFING

1½ cups bread cubes
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon thyme or marjoram
½ medium-sized onion, minced
3 tablespoons butter, melted
Mix bread cubes, seasoning, and onion; add butter slowly, tossing lightly with a fork until blended.

EGG SAUCE

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups scalded milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 hard-cooked eggs
Melt butter, add flour and blend well. Pour over the scalded milk and cook until thick. Season. Cut the hard-cooked eggs in small pieces and add.

Prepare Now To Can For Winter

For all of us, these days, it's a matter of real economy to can surplus foods. It means many dollars saved from the food budget. Plan to do more home canning this year—set up a generous canning budget.

During the next few weeks, fruits and vegetables will be in plentiful supply. You can choose them at their flavor peak and at lower prices too. Now is the time to check your supply of jars, to buy plenty of fresh new lids, and have your canning equipment in good condition for action.

A nationally known jar and lid company now offers a new "Self Sealing" brand of jar, caps and lids. The canning jars, in all sizes from half-pints through the larger sizes, are available in grocery stores.

A simple test gives you instant proof of an air-tight seal. You just tap lid when jar has cooled—a clear "ring" tells you it's a perfect seal. Without guessing—you know. This dependable test is used for all methods of canning.

MOVIE REVIEWS

2 Sparkling Musicals Liven New Movie Bill

By PAUL JONES

If a rowdy splash of technicolor, some exotic dance creations and a handful of Cole Porter tunes which melt in your mouth mean anything to you as a moviegoer, put "The Pirate" on your list.

If, on the other hand, your taste in entertainment runs to the nostalgic, the slow-paced, boy-meets-girl format, the Fox Theater's

"Give My Regards to Broadway" is apt to be your "dish."

Both are palatable, easy on the ears and eyes.

"The Pirate"

"The Pirate," which now is showing at Loew's, is one of the most pretentious musicals since "Coney Island"—my standard for measuring the value of any musical comedy. Gene Kelly's dancing is superb and I am making a personal concession there, because I'm not a Kelly fan. But, the nimble-footed hooper executive, some of the trickiest solo footwork the celluloid has recorded lately. In company with the Nicholas Brothers, he prances through a comedy dance number which is a show-stopper.

All of that is just one ingredient in the hip-hop parade of music, color and entertainment. Judy Garland, as lyrically charming and nimble as foot as she has ever been, contributes a medley of hum-able tunes and some fancy "terping" on her own. Porter's contributions include "Love of My Life," "Mack the Black" and "You Can Do No Wrong," which are interpreted by Miss G., and "Be a Clown" and "Nina," which Kelly wraps up in some silver-lined wrapping.

"Give My Regards—"

"Give My Regards" is a mite slower paced, but as sure-footed as the proverbial turtle. The sock songs are there and the engaging little romantic yarn holds together the engrossing film. The theme is show-biz. It's about a vaudeville family which yearns for another turn before the footlights. But, there's many a memory of by-gone years for those over 30 in the songs and lacy atmosphere. Dan Dailey, Charles Winniger, Nancy Guild, Charles Ruggles and Fay Bainter carry the starring standard-bearer in this musical opus.

"Hazard" Has Weak Story

All the film at the Paramount needs to aptly describe its content is the word "Hap" in front of the movie title, "Hazard."

This farce melodrama possesses a weak story which utilizes the talents of at least one star who is accustomed to bigger and better parts—Paulette Goddard. The plot dwells in gambling rooms and treats other unethical side-bars with undue values.

See Movie, Hear Fight

After two consecutive postponements of the long-awaited Louis-Walcott fight cut heavily into normal patronage at the Tower Theater, Manager Harvey Smith last night decided something had to be done—and he did it.

Smith worked out an arrangement whereby theatergoers at the Tower could see a movie and hear the fight, too. He rigged up a loud-speaker setup through which the fight can be broadcast from the stage. He said the fight will be broadcast at 9 p. m. and the regular theater program will be resumed at the conclusion of the battle.

DeKalb Sheriff Seeks Re-election

DeKalb Sheriff W. L. Broome, of Decatur, yesterday became the first Democratic candidate in the county to qualify for the Summer primary. He is running for re-election.

Broome, who has served twice in the Legislature, in 1943 and 1945, resigned to run for Sheriff in a special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Sheriff J. R. Hall.

A&P's Prize Chickens Here, Shown in 4 Supermarkets

Atlantans got a preview Thursday of the "Chicken of Tomorrow," when 250 finalists in a nationwide contest to develop meatier, better chickens went on exhibit in four local A&P supermarkets.

H. H. Altman, General Superintendent of the A&P Food Stores' Atlanta Unit, explained the 250 chickens represented the culmination of an extensive three-year breeding contest sponsored by A&P in co-operation with poultry growers and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Sponsors of the "Chicken of Tomorrow" contest, he said, wanted a bird that would combine the best qualities of egg-laying and meat-type chickens. He added that they sought "greater cash returns for the poultry farmer and a tastier fowl for the nation's dinner tables."

"In 1946," he explained, A&P and poultry industry leaders undertook to develop a better chicken. It was decided that what the poultry industry needed was a chicken with more white meat, bigger drumsticks and a better proportion of meat to bone."

He said the "Chicken of Tomorrow" contest produced such excellent results that A&P will continue to sponsor such a program.

The 250 prize chickens were exhibited in A&P markets at 879 Gordon St., S. W., 1055 Peachtree St., N. E., 3135 Peachtree Rd., N. E., and 337 Boulevard, N. E.

Can't Paint Town Red

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(UP)—Commissioner Joe Boyle wants his firemen to lay down the paint brush. C. T. Jackson, a full time painter, complained that certain city firemen were under-bidding him for work. Boyle immediately banned painting as a sideline for firemen telling them "you're either a fireman or a painter."

"CHICKEN OF TOMORROW"—George D. Enterkin, Meat Supervisor of A. & P. Food Stores, inspects and finds pleasing one of the finalists in the national Chicken-of-Tomorrow Contest. Described as "meatier birds with broader breast, thicker thighs and more white meat," 250 of tomorrow's chickens, representing the culmination of a three-year breeding contest, are on exhibit in Atlanta.

HURT IN FALL—Fred Russ, front of 559 Peachtree St., N. E., 41, of Decatur, was treated at Grady Hospital yesterday for "Bud" Foster, a fellow Shriner. A broken ribs and other painful injuries received when he fell from a second-story apartment window at 550 Spring St., N. W. Police said Mrs. R. O. Campbell, Jr., of the Spring Street address, had locked her door key in the apartment, and Russ was attempting to climb through a window to open the door when he fell.

IMPERSONATION—J. W. Cox, of Roswell, was booked at Atlanta Police Headquarters yesterday for suspicion of impersonating an officer, after, police charged, he threatened to "kick a door down" in a Negro apartment building. P. J. C. Clay and R. W. Boyd said Cox went to 199 Forrest Ave., N. E., informed the residents he was "an FBI man," and threatened to kick the doors in. Residents called police.

BRAZEN SNATCH—C. L. Taylor, of 1193 Merlin Ave., S. E., a retired city detective, was on his way home from a Shrine meeting last night and had stopped in to talk with Fulton Sheriff A. B. Grady. Taylor said the fez was valued at $10.

PICKPOCKETS AT FIRE—Emovite H. Hadden, 1092 St. Augustine Pl., N. E., told police his pocket was picked yesterday afternoon while he was a spectator at a fire in the basement of The Journal Building at 10 Forsyth St., N. E. Hadden said his wallet containing $18 was lifted.

Student of Week—CUTHBERT, June 24—Miss Iris Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sawyer, was named "Student of the Week" in the last issue of the bulletin of the Cuthbert Methodist Church. She graduated at Andrew College in May and is now in training at Lake Junaluska, N. C., for a Summer of Youth Caravan work.

Furniture Market Gets More 'Choosy'

NEW YORK, June 24—(AP)—The New York furniture market this week slipped back into what some observers said was a "normal" pattern, for the first time since the war.

Sales have slowed down and buyers have become choosy.

Attendance, at 6,700 for the first three days, was 14 percent under last season, said J. J. Melniker, President of the New York Furniture Exchange.

Canning, Freezing Plants Offer Help

FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1948

Suggestion of the day: All of the summer vegetables are just about here. The canning plants scattered about over the State will be delighted to help you lay away these healthful products for winter.

So will the freezing plants. The Georgia State Farmers' Market at Murphy Avenue and Sylvan Road is serving the needs of Atlanta housewives, the canning plant running at full speed. They have the vegetables, the cans, the canning equipment and the knowledge; all you need is your pocketbook.

MOTHERS ARE WONDERFUL

Well, you don't need us to tell you that these mothers are wonderful institutions. They are the one essential for a good start in life. Right now we are thinking of our Scottie who has succeeded in bringing into the world and nurturing up to weaning age a fine little brood of three sons.

She has been away for several days, having injured herself on a bob-wire while pursuing her favorite rabbit. She has been running this fellow for several months and usually the game is played at a leisurely gait but for some reason known to herself (perhaps her eight weeks of close attention to her youngsters) caused her to get after Brer Rabbit in earnest, with the result that she was badly gashed along the breastbone.

We thought that at this period, with her puppies practically weaned, that her sojourn of a week in the hospital would wipe out the last vestige of her parental responsibility and that she would return to the farm as more or less of a stranger to the youngsters.

But, no such thing! Aunt Susie had the puppies out in the front yard exercising them when we drove up with Missy in the car. Before we could get the door open she was whining pitifully, and immediately she was released she bounded into their midst, spoke to them brusquely, sent poor old Jack spinning with one blow (he was having a big play with the puppies at the time) and took charge. In 30 seconds time she was back home and in charge of the family, and everybody knew it. Everybody was put in his place and all was again in order. Mother was running the institution, again.

And a good thing, too! The pity is that all of us can't have them with us, always.

"Not brilliant, but pleasant," that's what they say about our 6:00 a. m. program from Yellow River. The 12:45 p. m. program is crammed full of farm information. And by way of relief, there is Aunt Susie and Uncle Will. They can lighten ANY load.

Keep Tuned to Your Local Station for Many Other Good Shows.

TODAY in RADIO

By PAUL JONES

There's no sensation quite like that of talking into a coast-to-coast microphone. That's the way Mrs. Betty June Flowers, of 1239 N. Main St., College Park, feels now.

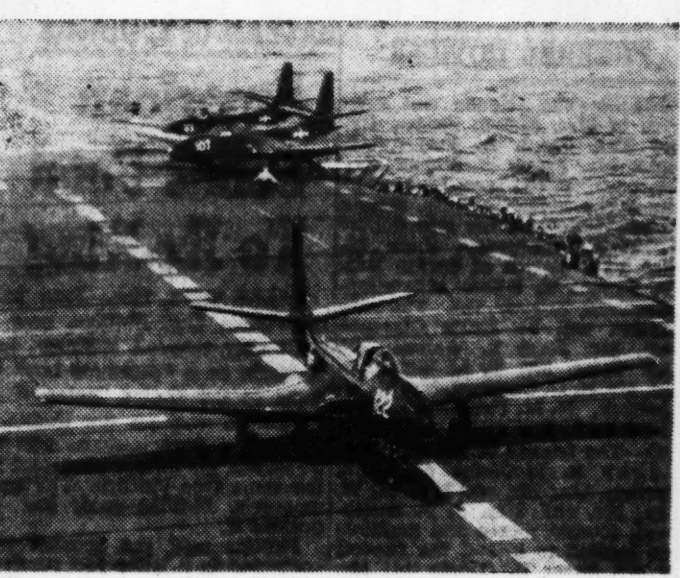

Mrs. Flowers appeared recently as guest on the "Ladies, Be Seated" show on WCON and ABC. . . . She was awarded a lapel watch for participating in the show and exchanging engaging comments with the genial host of this afternoon show, Tom Moore. . . .

The Republican Convention permitting, Bert Parks and his Break the Bank show will offer a new kitty loaded with $1,350 during tonight's quiz show at 9 on WCON and ABC. The Highways in Melody concert tonight will feature the band music of Sousa, Gershwin, Denza, Coates and Tucker. . . . The program will open with "Thunder March." . . . These martial melodies will follow: "Pan Americana," "Knightsbridge March," "Strike Up the Band," "Funiculi Funicula" and others.

An innocent rancher framed for murder by renegade deputies working hand-in-glove with outlaws—that's the situation which will confront the masked rider, The Lone Ranger, when he comes to the aid of the law in another episode at 7:30 tonight on WCON.

Salary Hike Agreed

PITTSBURGH, June 24—(AP)—The Westinghouse Electric Corporation today announced pay increases ranging from $16.47 to $40 monthly for salaried employees in an agreement with an independent union.

JET PLANES COMING TO ATLANTA—Twin-engine jet planes will perform for the first time Sunday when a group of fliers will demonstrate at the Naval Air Station, Chamblee, several FH-1 planes of the type shown above on the Carrier USS Saipan. Lt. Col. Marion Carl, who holds the official world's record for jets, will lead the Marine pilot group.

Atlanta Anticipates Thrill When Jet Planes Perform

Air-minded Georgians for the first time will be able to see twin-engine jet planes perform at the Naval Air Station, Chamblee, Sunday, when Lt. Col. Marion Carl will lead his squadron of jet pilots through their paces.

The jet performance will be part of the Naval Air Reserve second anniversary celebration. Col. Carl holds the official world's speed record for jets. The squadron of jet planes are from the Marine Air Base at Cherry Point.

The gates of the Naval Air Station, 10 miles north of Atlanta, will be opened to the public at 2 p. m. Sunday. Visitors will be able to view the latest developments in aviation on static display. In addition to the Marine squadron of jet planes, they will see the celebrated "Blue Angels" flight precision team in action, led by Lt. Cmdr "Dusty" Rhodes. They will also hear selections by the Parris Island Marine Band.

Station planes will put on a "Battle Stations" at a spot marked off on the runway to represent an aircraft carrier. The show will end with a carrier plane "breakup." Fighter planes will make "passes" at a towed target or sleeve in sight of the spectators.

The second anniversary celebration of the Naval Air Reserve program is being sponsored by all 23

Salary Hike Agreed

PITTSBURGH, June 24—(AP)—The Westinghouse Electric Corporation today announced pay increases ranging from $16.47 to $40 monthly for salaried employees in an agreement with an independent union.

There's no sensation quite like that of talking into a coast-to-coast microphone. That's the way Mrs. Betty June Flowers, of 1239 N. Main St., College Park, feels now.

Mrs. Flowers appeared recently as guest on the "Ladies, Be Seated" show on WCON and ABC. . . . She was awarded a lapel watch for participating in the show and exchanging engaging comments with the genial host of this afternoon show, Tom Moore. . . .

The Republican Convention permitting, Bert Parks and his Break the Bank show will offer a new kitty loaded with $1,350 during tonight's quiz show at 9 on WCON and ABC. The Highways in Melody concert tonight will feature the band music of Sousa, Gershwin, Denza, Coates and Tucker. . . . The program will open with "Thunder March." . . . These martial melodies will follow: "Pan Americana," "Knightsbridge March," "Strike Up the Band," "Funiculi Funicula" and others.

An innocent rancher framed for murder by renegade deputies working hand-in-glove with outlaws—that's the situation which will confront the masked rider, The Lone Ranger, when he comes to the aid of the law in another episode at 7:30 tonight on WCON.

JOIN YOUR LOCAL UNIT OF THE NEW NATIONAL GUARD—NOW!

Serve in a FIGHTING ORGANIZATION

If you act quickly, there may still be a place for you in the new National Guard. But you must act now, because the National Guard has room only for the best . . . men who are potential leaders . . . men who want to serve their country with pride in the great military traditions of the National Guard.

THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE UNITED STATES ONLY 100,000 MEN WILL BE ACCEPTED BY THE NATIONAL GUARD THIS YEAR

The National Guard's strength this year is limited to 350,000 men. Already 250,000 are members. So, there's only room for the best men. Physically and mentally qualified young men who are able to meet the high standards of the new National Guard will get the kind of training that helps keep America strong. They'll earn while they learn . . . and be ready to do their part in protecting America's future.

Here's how the National Guard Helps You

American Sends Food To Ex-King

FALLS CITY, Neb., June 24—(AP)—When Gus Phillips, now a Falls City railroad engineer, left Bulgaria as a "penniless boy" to come to the United States, King Ferdinand was on the throne.

Today a food package was on its way to the former king, sent by the same Gus Phillips. The aged monarch, Phillips said, had received the letter in a letter just received from Ferdinand, who abdicated in 1918 in favor of his son, Boris. Ferdinand now lives in an old castle in Coburg, Germany.

The letter was in reply to one he sent the ex-king last December, Phillips said.

"Of account of my great age and rather poor health, I am very glad and thankful when my dear overseas friends send a CARE package to me. Perhaps you also could help me by such a parcel."

LICHENS ISSUED

COLUMBIANA, June 24—Six hundred eighty-five drivers' licenses have been validated at Randolph County Courthouse in Cuthbert by State Patrolmen from the American office of the Highway Patrol, Randolph County Ordinary J. W. Wiley stated.

Late Jere Wells' Violence Flares, Mother Succumbs Twelve Killed In Central Luzon
MANILA, June 24—(AP)—Twelve persons were killed yesterday in a flareup of violence in Central Luzon.

Two students and seven farmers were killed in an all-night battle between about 50 unidentified assailants and the student guard at Central Luzon Agricultural School at Munoz, 78 miles north of Manila.

It was the 33rd attack on the school in the past year. Constabulary forces forced the raiders to flee.

In the same province, Nueva Ecija, a prominent Bangsamang landowner and two sons were slain by unknown assailants.

Final approval of a general pardon for 50,000 Huk was snarled in the closing hours of a special session of Congress.

There was House opposition to two Senate amendments to the presidential amnesty. These would extend the time limit for surrender from 20 days to one month and include a pardon for common crimes committed in furtherance of the Huk land reform movement.

Arthur H. Waite, Sr., Dies in Hospital
Amsterdam Ave., N. E., died yesterday in a private hospital.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

Carroll Rites Held In Raleigh, N. C.

INDIVIDUAL STUFFED MEAT ROLLS

Meat Mixture:

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 cup milk
1/4 each chopped green pepper and onion
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Stuffing:

2 cups soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Water to moisten

Combine ingredients for meat mixture. Divide into 6-8 equal portions. Lay one portion at a time on a square of wax paper and flatten into square shape about 1/2-inch thick. Combine ingredients for stuffing. Place some stuffing in center of each meat square. Lift wax paper and meat together and fold

over dressing, pressing meat edges together. Pull back wax paper and press ends of meat roll together.

Place rolls in shallow pan; pour tomato soup over top; bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees F. 6-8 rolls.
